$7.42 Increase Possible

Saugerties Faces Tax Hike

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES
Town of Saugerties taxpayers can anticipate a healthy rate increase for next year with a preliminary budget of $421,924.52, which is more than $100,000 higher than appropriations listed in the current budget.

The new budget completed this week by Supervisor A. Michael Schovel will necessitate the raising of tax monies for the general cost of government for the first time in many years and will reflect in a tax rate increase estimated at $7.42 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The tax rate for the current year is $91.52 and if the huge increase in appropriations is approved leaving $245,894.47 to be raised by taxation, the tax rate could hit the $100 mark for the first time in town history depending upon the county quota charges which must be added when the county budget is completed. During the past year, Saugerties was assessed $711,983.34 in county charges, which includes county highway appropriations.

A public hearing on the preliminary budget, prior to adoption, will be held Thursday, Nov. 6 at 8 p. m. in Town Hall.

A copy of the budget is now on file at the town clerk's office in the Town Hall and may be inspected by the public.

The huge increase in general appropriations comes mostly from new items. Under special items there is an increase of $16,956.25 which includes half payment on a capital note for the Keefe property used as a landfill site.

The independent auditing and accounting item has doubled from $350 to $700 for the coming year. The budget also provides for the services of an engineer at $3,000. This is also a new item.

Law enforcement reflects an increase of $4,000 which includes increased manpower for police protection and $1,500 additional for a police patrol car.

Recreation and Parks shows an increase of $3,350 and in addition an increase for personal services of $2,800 from $3,200 to $6,000. The Youth Program has also increased $2,000 with $1,700 for new equipment.

The Senior Citizens program will cost $2,000. There was no appropriation last year. The Planning Board is now on the threshold of zoning and has requested $7,300, an increase of $7,000 to provide for the services of a zoning consultant.

Under Sanitation-Landfill there is an increase of $7,883.75 covering personal services increase of $1,800 and new equipment $6,000.

Probably the largest new item is under employee benefits, $12,997.58 for the town's contribution to the state retirement fund for town employees. Although $500 was set aside for this contingency for the past two years, there evidently was no balance and the entire amount must be raised in this new budget.

Many of the towns in the county have put funds in escrow for the past two years in anticipation of payment to the retirement fund. However, Saugerties will have to raise the entire sum in the 1970 budget.

Estimated revenue including a $10,000 unexpended balance under the general fund totals $146,019.73. The largest item under revenues is $92,419.73 per capita state aid. A total of $18,000 is anticipated in mortgage tax. Much of the total estimated revenue from local sources totaling $21,000 comes from Vidi-Comm CATV franchise, $1,000 tax collection fees $4,000; clerk's fees $2,000; licenses and permits $3,800 and fines and forfeited bail $5,000.

Highway estimated revenues including state aid totals $27,351.32 which includes a $7,500 balance under Item No. 1, highway repairs, improvements and employee salaries. There was also a $500 balance under machinery and $1,500 under snow removal and miscellaneous.

Heavy Fighting Across Lebanon, Impose Curfew

By United Press International

Street fighting broke out in the northern Lebanese city of Tripoli today between Palestinian refugees and Lebanese security forces and there were reports a force of 200 guerrillas or Syrian troops had massed on Lebanon's borders with tanks and armored cars.

Heavy fighting also was reported in southern Lebanon in the Mount Hermon area where Syria, Lebanon and Israel meet. Guerrilla radio broadcasts said the Arab commandos were fighting both Lebanese and Israeli army troops.

Lebanon imposed a strict curfew in its major cities to try to restore order but Palestinian refugees and a large group of unarmed supporters ignored it in refugee camps on Beirut's outskirts where security forces were ousted in fighting Thursday.

The crisis between the government of President Charles Helou and the guerrillas, the refugees and the neighboring Arab states reached such proportions Al-Fatah's Voice of Storm Radio predicted another landing of American troops in Lebanon to try to save the government.

The United States landed troops in Lebanon during the 1956 Middle East War and Al-Fatah said a recent U.S. State Department statement expressing concern for the future of Lebanon was really a prelude to invasion.

Israel today sent its planes against Egyptian military targets at the southern end of the Gulf of Suez where the Egyptians were reported to have set up a series of surface-to-air missile (SAM) sites.

Details of the fighting in Tripoli were sparse. First reports said three persons were killed and a large number wounded in Tripoli and that a refugee was killed in a clash between armed forces and civilians at a nearby refugee camp.

The Arab world was intensifying its political and military pressure on Lebanon in the attempt to establish guerrilla bases there for strikes into Israel—something the Beirut government has resisted in trying to remain neutral in the Middle East conflict.

Guerrilla broadcasts in Cairo said guerrillas in southern Lebanon were now in their seventh day of battle with attacking Lebanese troops and in addition faced Israeli soldiers moving up from the south.

In a late-night broadcast Thursday, Beirut Radio said more than 200 "armed men"—either Arab guerrillas or regular Syrian troops—had moved into the Syrian hills along the Lebanese border with their armor, creating an invasion threat.

Construction Starts for New Road on Washington Ave.

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency marked its second ground-breaking Thursday in as many weeks as it took the first step in the construction of what will be a new four-lane road from Washington Avenue to the foot of Fair Street.

James G. Connors, executive director of the agency, told The Freeman today that the four-lane road is only part of an overall program of municipal improvement in the uptown project.

The $810,000 contract, awarded to the Berardi Construction Company of Kingston, will include the widening of Converse Street, storm sewer and sanitary sewer work and grading on Murphy Street and completion of Clinton Avenue Extension.

Connors explained that the four lane road is actually part of the new Clinton Avenue extension that will begin at Westbrook Lane.

Clinton Avenue Extension is a two-part job," he told The Freeman. "The road we're working on now (the four lane road from Washington Avenue to the foot of Fair Street) will be connected with a new road bypassing what is now known as Clinton Avenue."

According to Connors, the original plan was to demolish all those structures on the north side of Clinton Avenue beyond where Main Street intersects.

"We've had requests to change the route of that road from historical groups in Kingston so that it runs behind those structures. We've worked out a plan that would allow for that which is now being reviewed by federal officials," Connors said.

According to Connors, the road from Westbrook Lane to the foot of Fair Street will be a one-way street, two lanes in width.

Converse Street will also be widened under this current contract. "Converse Street varies in width to a maximum of 31 feet," Connors said.

"Plans call for the widening of the street to 50 feet from Fair Street to where it connects with Plaza road."

Connors said that storm and sanitary sewers would be constructed under all the new roadwork. "The contractor will be working on grading and underground work for the remainder of the year and through the winter," Connors said. "Paving should begin in the spring."

The four-lane road will exit on Washington Avenue west of the site of the former McConnell's Restaurant, Connors said. "This will form a major new interchange," he said. With traffic lights and pedestrian lights. Last week, the agency broke ground on a private housing project in Broadway East to provide seven single-family homes. It is expected that those homes will be occupied in early January of next year.

Connors also revealed that the agency still expects to advertise for bids on the construction of a parking garage on North Front Street by the end of this month.

Ellenville Urban Renewal--- Many Problems Confront Agency

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE
The Ellenville Urban Renewal Project, currently in its seventh year, provides a classic example of how ambitious and well-thought-out plans become spoiled by the realities of practical life.

Plagued by a myriad of problems, the project, three years behind schedule, is proceeding at a snail's pace despite the earnest efforts of village officials.

The primary problems confronting the Urban Renewal Agency in Ellenville are financial, logistical, and bureaucratic.

While the project is sufficiently funded with heavy state and federal subsidies, the necessary private involvement is not being mobilized because of the inflationary trends of the economy.

A further problem is the logistical impasse created by the unavailability of adequate housing accommodations for people residing in housing slated to be demolished.

And a still further, and seemingly senseless problem, is the lengthy and tedious bureaucratic procedures, local officials must assume in dealing with their state and federal sponsors.

The Ellenville UR project is focusing on the somewhat blighted business district of southern Ulster community.

The first phase of the project includes the demolition or rehabilitation of substandard structures, the development of parking facilities and adequate drainage and sewerage systems, and the location of housing accommodations for those who have to be re-located.

Special

After the lots are cleared, they are offered for sale at their fair market value to private developers, whereupon private enterprise takes over. Currently there are two such projects under construction and another half dozen slated for construction this spring.

The director of the Ellenville project is a veteran UR specialist John O'Connor. O'Connor says that a crucial factor in the revitalization of the project is the adoption of a new workable plan, which, he says cannot be formulated until URA's new planners, Raymond, May, Parrish and Pine, are approved by the federal sponsors. This approval has been pending for more than four months.

He explains that the new plan is needed in order to bring the project "up to date." Moreover, the URA cannot qualify for any state and federal programs while the plan is pending.

However, even after the new plan is formulated, it is by no means smooth sailing for the URA, because the agency still has to confront the problems of relocating the dispossessed and stimulating reluctant private investors.

According to UR Relocation Officer Thomas Koulos the resolution of the housing question is of utmost importance.

"Without housing, we cannot move this project any further," Koulos says, "because we must provide people with adequate housing accommodations in the community before moving them out of buildings slated for demolition."

Koulos, who feels that some form of public subsidized housing is the answer, is working closely with the Ellenville Housing Authority to urge the Village Board to adopt such a project.

However, since the Village Board seems reluctant to get involved with public housing, the URA is looking into other housing programs.

Another Winter Preview-- New Record Low for City

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON
Another night of record-breaking low temperatures and snow for the mountain tops reported in the Stone Ridge area. At Cooper Lake, overnight low was 24 and in Rosendale-Tillson area early morning readings were up one degree from the previous day for a 27.

City of Kingston set a new record with 24 degrees at 1 a.m. Previous low for Oct. 24 was a 29 reading in 1964.

Random readings around the county hovered in the low 20's with an unofficial 16 degrees reported in the Stone Ridge area. At Cooper Lake, overnight low was 24 and in Rosendale-Tillson area early morning readings were up one degree from the previous day for a 27.

Bellevue had what was described by Ski Center officials as a light covering of snow this morning with the mercury at 24. Early morning snow flurries were reported in the mountains near Woodstock today.

Snow flurries made brief appearances yesterday afternoon also.

Although Bellevue has only a light cover to entice the skier, the mid autumn cold wave has dumped up to two feet of snow on Vermont mountains. Sugar-bush ski bowl area, which traditionally opens early and closes late, plans to start the lifts running this weekend rather than the scheduled Nov. 15 seasonal start.

A somewhat warmer trend is expected for the weekend according to weather forecasters. However, snow leaden skies and cool temperatures remained the order for today.

A Giant Step for BOCES -- IBM Computer Delivered

A giant step in curriculum improvement was accomplished today with the delivery of an IBM 1401 Computer to the BOCES Center of Vocational Technical Education at 29 Grand Street. "This is an excellent example of what cooperative action can accomplish," remarked Dr. Jack L. Roosa, district superintendent. Michael M. Aronica, director of Vocational Education in explaining the significance of the new acquisition remarked: "The addition of a computer to our total curriculum of automated processing of business data will provide us with unlimited flexibility. Currently we have had educational capability in: traditional accounting procedures; unit record equipment, including keypunch operations, accounting machine set-up, and use of interpreters and collators, as well as other supportive operations."

"The addition of the computer makes available to the students a whole new range of skills from the basic machine operation procedures to the more sophisticated programming skills. Encompassed within this broad range is the total configuration of data processing hardware."

Aronica continued, "The concept of cooperative education stands paramount among other designs because it provides learning experiences which no single school district can afford."

More than 750 students are enrolled in classes conducted by the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Education Services. Component school districts in the Ulster BOCES are: Ellen-ville, Highland, Kingston, New Paltz, Onteora, Rondout Valley, Saugerties and Woodstock. The computer as well as the supporting unit record equip-

State Mediator Sought

CSEA: Impasse With County

The Ulster County Unit of the State Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) to assign a mediator to attempt to resolve the stalemate.

The action came after an unprecedented vote in which members of the unit unanimously rejected the latest offer of the County Legislature, and after unsuccessful attempts to reach agreement at the last negotiating meeting held in Kingston Thursday night.

In a telegram to PERB, Richard H. Jacobs, CSEA Unit President, asked for immediate assistance to resolve the impasse prior to the Nov. 15 budget deadline. Patrick P. Monachino, collective bargaining specialist for CSEA, said the County's final package offered little relief to the county employees in coping with the ever-rising cost of living. "The county's attempt to sweeten the pie by offering more to certain segments of the county's employees, while ignoring the urgent needs of all county workers, was unsuccessful and met with a resounding 'no' from all quarters," he said.

Monachino was hopeful that the assistance of a mediator would result in a realistic settlement, palatable to all parties concerned.

Approve Plans

NEW PALTZ The Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services Thursday night approved report of the educational consultant on proposed facilities.

A number of appointments were approved. Several teachers were appointed to the adult education vocational training program. Elizabeth Long, Anne Kasooh and Gayle Stiffey were named secretaries. Resolutions to be presented before the New York State School Board Conference in Syracuse this weekend were discussed and delegates were instructed.

A tax sheltered annuity plan for employees also was voted by the board.

New Director Sets Goals

Tumor Clinic--21st Year

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Tumor Clinic, about to embark on its 21st year, has its first full time director in three years and plans for expanded patient treatment.

Dr. Joseph P. Tumblety of Lakeville, Conn., assumed his duties as director earlier this month and after a brief three weeks of getting acquainted with facilities and personnel, expressed his pleasure at the local operation.

Pleased With Facilities

He said he is "well pleased with the tumor clinic facilities" at 400 Broadway. Well-versed in all phases of radiation therapy,

Special

Dr. Tumblety said that the Ulster County Tumor Clinic was a delight to a "frustrated general practitioner" like himself. He cited the very personal and individual treatment possible at the local clinic as one of its great assets.

Another feature to win the praise of the new director was the detailed and comprehensive tumor registry maintained by clinic personnel since the unit opened in November, 1949. He pointed with pride to the stacks of files indicating success of treatment of patients over that 20-year period, noting that radiation therapy can arrest and cure in a great number of cases.

One of the aims of his administration, he said, would be to expand the tumor clinic's treatment area to include more sophisticated supervoltage equipment, making cobalt 60 treatment more accessible to Ulster County residents.

He said the present radiation therapy equipment at the clinic is excellent but conventional and limited in its scope. He noted that with the supervoltage method more therapy can be given in less time with fewer undesirable side effects, adding that the tissue under treatment reacts the same way to both methods. The surrounding tissue and the patient's piece of mind both benefit from the cobalt treatment—high dosage without damage.

Dr. Tumblety has had extensive experience with supervoltage methods in Bronx Veterans Administration Hospital where he was assistant director of Radiological Therapy and at Winchester Memorial Hospital, Winchester, Va., where he headed the R.T. operation. He has been associated with hospitals in Connecticut, New York City and Yonkers also.

He sees the local tumor clinic as a treatment center, noting that "diagnosis is not the role of the clinic." The main object he said was to "keep the clinic viable." Dr. Tumblety noted that he should be an essential part of long-range regional medical planning as well.

Another Asset

Another of the great assets at the Ulster County Tumor Clinic according to the new director is the Thursday clinic sessions when doctors from New York Memorial Hospital are on hand for consultation.

Patients are referred to the clinic by their own doctors. Treatments are both pre-operative and post-surgery. The former is being used increasingly in the field of tumor treatment as a result of recent medical research.

Dr. Tumblety said that much of the post-operative treatment is of preventative nature based on research also.

The scope of clinic work is revealed in statistics for the past two years indicating 3,705 treatments were given in 1968 and 3,763 in 1967. Patients seen, treated and ministered to by clinical services during the period were 615 in 1968 and 618 in 1967. A total of 495 received consultation in 1967 and 455 in 1968.

No Stranger to County

Dr. Tumblety is no stranger to Ulster County and welcomes the opportunity to work in the scenic, historic area. He and his wife, the former Joan Harkins have been frequent visitors at the home of her parents in Oliveira since 1941. Because of his school age children, two boys and two girls, Dr. Tumblety said he would not be moving his family to Kingston area until after the current school year.

An avid skier, Dr. Tumblety with his family has spent many a pleasant weekend at Simpson's Slope in Phoenicia. He is a collector of antique Civil War guns as a result of his sojourn in Winchester, Va. the home of some of the great modern day North South skirmishes.

A native of Boston, Mass., Dr. Tumblety is a graduate of Fordham University and New York Medical College.

The Road to Recovery

President Nixon had some advice to the American people in his first major address on economic problems last week: "You can make your plans on the basis that price rises are going to be slowing down."

The President declared firmly that "we are on the road to recovery from the disease of runaway prices," but that some painful adjustments lie ahead.

At this stage of the war on inflation, the President is sending letters to a cross-section of business and labor leaders urging that they take account of his prophesied cooling off of inflation in making wage, price and investment decisions.

There was no arm twisting. But the President told labor that it base its wage demands on the prospect of a return toward price stability. He told businessmen that it is in their own interest to make price and investment decisions on the same basis. And he told both they could help build a strong economy.

Finally, the President turned to the people and told them how they can help reduce inflation: "I call upon all Americans to bear the burden of restraint in their personal credit and purchasing decisions so as to reduce the pressures that help drive prices out of sight."

It was a quiet, deeply thought-out appeal to all elements of the economy to withstand the pressures of inflation patiently and to bear the consequences stoically for just a little longer. There will be no overnight cure, but the medicine is working. There may even be higher prices still—"a five-year momentum is not easy to stop"—but now prices are not increasing faster and faster and the end is in sight.

The government has poured on all the bitter medicines needed to cure inflation. The treatment is working. The rest is up to us—labor, management and people. Mutual restraint will halt inflation. We cannot agree more.

Burns to Federal Reserve

President Nixon's determination to keep tight economic restraint on inflation is reflected in his announcement that he will name Dr. Arthur F. Burns as chairman of the Federal Reserve System to succeed William M. Martin Jr. when his term ends January 31. The nomination was met with enthusiasm in Congress.

Burns was chairman of the President's Economic Advisers under Dwight D. Eisenhower. While he would not make policy statements until after confirmation, Burns has a reputation for thrift and frequently takes the conservative view in economic disagreements. As Counsel to the President, he has been primarily a budget cutter and cost-watcher, at a time when those talents are much in demand.

The Federal Reserve System is conscientiously independent. The President cannot dictate the decisions of the board, which is composed of seven men. Martin and his six colleagues have agreed with Nixon that stringent restraints are necessary. Burns is expected to continue them until inflation is beaten.

Suit against eight manufacturers of DDT filed in the U.S. district court in New York asks $30 billion in reparation for damage done to wildlife by the pesticide. If a judgment is recovered, the money would go to federal, state and local governments to undo the damage. It is a worthy purpose, and should cut down the use of dangerous chemicals, but it would open the way to reparation suits of all kinds of fancied and real damages.

BERRY'S WORLD

David Lawrence Says Vice President Has Right To Discuss Public Issues

WASHINGTON—Some of the so-called "liberals" may unwittingly be creating the impression that, while their kind of dissent comes under the heading of "free speech," the outspoken remarks of Vice President Agnew in recent days are not covered by the same kind of Constitutional privilege.

One Democratic Senator now says that when Mr. Agnew, in a speech in Mississippi, declared that school officials had made "a strong case" for delaying desegregation in certain districts, this was an "unwarranted, unethical and grossly improper" attempt to influence the Supreme Court. He suggests that the Vice President should devote his time to his "only constitutional duty"—namely, presiding over the Senate.

But the Vice President of the United States has additional duties. He has the task of understanding the President and training himself for a job that fate may suddenly require him to take over. Spiro Agnew announced immediately after election that he was an independent-minded person who would say what he believes, whether or not it agreed with the views of the President. He has the right, of course, to make speeches, and surely it will be conceded at least that he can talk on any subject that a Senator can tackle in a public speech.

Only this week, Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., Democrat of North Carolina, declared that constitutional government would perish in the United States if trends set by the Warren Court are not reversed. He prepared a detailed criticism of the legal course set by the Supreme Court and made a public address about it.

The Vice President, as presiding officer of the Senate under the Constitution, would seem to be permitted the same rights as any member of the upper house. Senators have never put a limit on the topics they discuss in public speeches, and the Vice President certainly has a similar privilege to delve into any subject, however controversial it may be.

Mr. Agnew made a speech, for instance, in New Orleans last week that aroused nationwide attention. He condemned the proponents of the Vietnam "moratorium" and said that the demonstrations were encouraged by an effete corps of impudent snobs who characterize themselves as intellectuals.

The Vice President, speaking at a fund-raising dinner for the Republican party, was endeavoring to defend the Republican Administration against the attacks of political opponents. Mr. Agnew said that today "subtlety is lost and fine distinctions based on acute reasoning are carelessly ignored in a headlong jump to a predetermined conclusion." He added:

"Thousands of well-motivated young people, conditioned since childhood to respond to great emotional appeals, saw fit to demonstrate for peace. Most did not stop to consider that the leaders of the moratorium had billed it as a massive public outpouring of sentiment against the foreign policy of the President of the United States."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Once there was a world full of ignorance, confidence and love. It had a demigod in New York named Bernard Shor. His friends hung on him the ridiculous nickname of Toots. He was too big and too crude for the name, but, by some gastronomic alchemy, the name stuck and every other person who entered this man's restaurant loved him.

Now Bob Considine, the only all-around writer in the business has written a book called Toots. I didn't think it could be done because Mister Shor is a loving heart, a weeper at weddings, and a Jew who doesn't know whether to stand or sit at Friday night services. Shor is simple-minded and complex.

When friends like Bill Corum and Mark Hellinger die, tough guy Shor starts to cry and he reminds you of the paid keepers at an Irish wake. He is a big fat man who is a millionaire one year and a debtor the next. He keeps the cash register at the door between the dining room and the kitchen because, when he wants to, tap it for a couple of hundred, he can't stand the smell of the kitchen.

Considine, of course, frisked his subject for everything. For example, when Toots is on the wagon, which is frequently, New York fires a brass cannon when he goes off. His wife, he calls her Baby, used to tip a leg in shows like No Foolin'. All the kids were brought up as Roman Catholics, which is not kosher.

He was so friendly with Cardinal Spellman that, at dinner, very often His Eminence would have Mr. Shor sit on his right so that they could discuss baseball—the only topic they had in common.

I think I know Mr. Shor almost as well as Mr. Considine. And yet Bob has written a masterful job on a complex figure. I broke up laughing so many times that I had to shut the book for fear of awakening my wife. It is more than masterful; it is genius.

Toots was the intimate friend of Presidents of the United States and he would sit with Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson and tell them how to run the country. In addition, he had good manners. If he liked you, he would snarl and called you a "Crum Bum." If he didn't like you, you were Mr. and Mrs. He loved the nuns at Marymount, where his children had sense pounded in their heads, but also had a special feeling for Frank Costello and Harry Truman. Don't tell me that they do not go together—I know it.

Mr. Shor can drink pretty well, which is an accomplishment after the age of fifty, but I have never known him to spend a dime for advertising and I never met a writer who didn't give Toots Shor free plugs—like this one. When he was a kid in South Philadelphia he was afraid of dark hallways and, after school, he sold newspapers and brought the money home to his mother.

"Most did not care to be reminded that the leaders of the moratorium refused to disassociate themselves from the objective enunciated by the enemy in Hanoi."

Mr. Agnew is the kind of man who doesn't mind criticism. But he also doesn't hesitate to respond as he pleases to those who make what he deems fallacious and ill-founded attacks on the foreign policy of the United States.

As for "putting pressure" on the Supreme Court through public speeches, many senators have expressed themselves frankly about the departure of the high court from the proper exercise of judicial authority. President Nixon himself said recently there is a need for justices who will interpret the Constitution strictly and not assume legislative functions.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1930's not only discussed what he felt were the shortcomings of the Supreme Court of that period, but sought from Congress the enactment of legislation which would enlarge the court from nine to possibly fifteen members and enable him to pick justices whose views were in accord with his own and thus attain a "liberal" majority.

It hardly seems consistent for the "liberals" today to deny either Vice President Agnew or anybody else the right to discuss public issues on which the Supreme Court may have to rule or the right to make speeches denouncing protest movements, especially those which have the effect of giving aid and comfort to the enemy in the midst of a war.

At five p.m. on a cold winter day, his sister leaned out of a fourth story window and said: "Toots, I just walked through the dark hall and there's nobody there." Then he would climb the stairs. His trouble is that he has never forgiven death or prison for anybody. If Corum the sports writer died, Mr. Shor sat at home and drank sipping whiskey from three until six.

Under the tough face is a heart so soft that he must resort to profanity to make himself look tough. My kids grew up calling him Uncle Toots and the name still sticks. Until they reached adulthood, they thought that he was related to us.

He used to permit me to eat on the cuff when nobody wanted to buy anything I might write. One day I said that I had hit a gold mine with a book and I would like to lend him a couple of thousand. He clenched his teeth and fought the tears and said: "I don't need your goddam money."

Now he is between covers, written by Considine and published by Meredith Press, and he doesn't deserve it unless you remember an old poem called "Abou Ben Adhem, (may his tribe increase!) awoke one night from a deep dream of peace and saw within the confines of his room an angel writing in a book of gold. . . ."

Shor leads all the names I can think of because, although he will deny it, he truly loves his fellow man.

Jack Anderson Says Powell Is Again on Griddle; Involved With Fixer Voloshen

WASHINGTON—Ever since Adam Clayton Powell burst upon the national scene, happily defying the established order, it has been a toss-up whether he would finish his career in Congress or in prison. Now he is back on Capitol Hill, incorrigible as ever, involved in another grand jury investigation.

For Powell, more than Martin Sweig, pulled backstage wires for fixer Nat Voloshen. Sweig may have been more effective, since he spoke for the powerful Speaker, John McCormack. But Voloshen found the Harlem Congressman more congenial.

Before Powell was deposed as House Labor Chairman, he went so far as to appoint Voloshen a congressional "consultant." This gave the high-paid fixer special status that must have impressed both his clients and government officials.

Voloshen also hung out in Powell's office, using it as his Washington headquarters. He made frequent appearances in the Speaker's office, huddling and hobnobbing with Sweig, but always left his hat in Powell's office.

Powell also joined Sweig in pressuring the Labor Department to make an appointment for labor racketeer Jack McCarthy. Assistant U.S. Attorney Alkan Abramowitz later questioned Frank Kleiler, a Labor Department official, about the meeting.

"Would it be fair to say," demanded Abramowitz, "that the only reason that you met with Mr. McCarthy on March 2, 1965, was because a Congressman requested you to do that?"

"Yes," said the Labor official.

Powell's Intervention

This column has now determined that the unnamed Congressman was Powell. As House Labor Chairman, he had more influence with the Labor Department than did Sweig, who also made a call in McCarthy's behalf.

The irrepressible Powell, since his return to Congress, remains unrepentant and unregenerated. "I'll behave as I always have," he promised reporters airily after he had been safely sworn in again.

He has continued his high living, pausing occasionally to attend to his congressional chores or to cash in on his notoriety on the lecture circuit. He demands—and usually gets—a $3,500 fee for berating the white establishment.

Indeed, Powell has everything a son of the ghetto could yearn for. He is handsome, lives extravagantly, courts glamorous women, vacations frequently in the best places, reaches moments of genuine eloquence, and is recognized wherever he goes. As the first Negro ever elected to the House from the East, he has made major contributions to his nation and has set historical precedents.

Yet he has been prosecuted in the courts, banished from Congress, fined almost a year's pay by the House, harried by process servers, and even forced into exile. On at least three occasions, he has escaped jail by the merest caprice of justice.

Flamboyant Style

Powell also has style. A friend described the scene when Adam was still House Labor Chairman and took a phone call from President Johnson. The impudent Powell leaned back in his great leather chair, feet propped upon his desk, a glass of scotch in one hand and the telephone snuggled against his shoulder.

"Hello, Baby!" he greeted the President of the United States.

Powell also rented a villa on the Mediterranean with counterparty funds belonging to taxpayers. Another time, he toured the pleasure spots of Europe with a beauty queen on each arm. Not only the travel fare, hotel expenses and night club bills were charged to the taxpayers, but the ladies drew government salaries. They were studying "employment opportunities for women," he explained blithely.

He found other labor problems to study from Hawaii to Hong Kong, from Bangkok to Bimini. While contemplating anti-poverty legislation at Acapulco, he set a new record for catching marlin. Frequently, he cruised the Caribbean in the Teamsters Union's yacht while his committee worked on labor legislation. Once he simply helped himself to the yacht and kept it so long that Teamster lawyers threatened to charge him with piracy.

Brush With Law

Powell's high living inevitably got him into trouble with his colleagues, who discovered he also had been jiggering his committee finances and cashing his wife's government checks without her consent. They cashed him out of the House about the same time that New York Courts issued warrants for his arrest in a contempt case.

With a parting shout to his followers to "Keep the faith, Baby!" he absconded to Bimini where he set up court in the End of the World Bar. For months, he played dominoes, swilled exotic mixtures from the bar and began slowly to atrophy from boredom until he was rescued from his dreary tropical paradise by a Justice Department decision not to prosecute him.

Three of the four Justice Department lawyers who had worked on the case recommended Powell's indictment. They felt the evidence was persuasive that he had banked at least $28,000 of his wife's government checks and that he had spent for personal travel another $10,000 fraudulently billed to his aides. There was also alleged matter of removing his travel vouchers from the House records. Conviction on all three counts could have brought Powell up to 25 years behind bars.

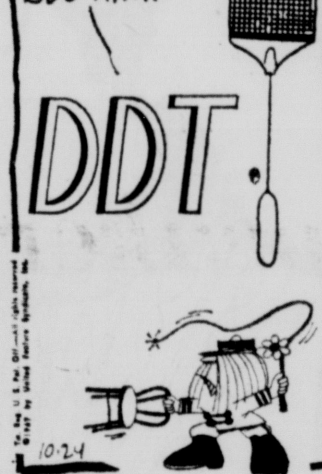

His recommendation was overruled, however, by more politically attuned superiors who felt that the predominantly Negro grand jury would accept Powell's story that he was being prosecuted only because of his race. Rather than risk a backfire, then, Attorney General Ramsey Clark dismissed the grand jury without asking for an indictment.

"The fall of Adam," commented a colleague, "has become repetitious, exceeded only by the frequency of his redemption."

Note: On his first Sunday back at his Harlem Pulpit, Powell announced the hymn numbers, then suggested rascally that they might make a good bet for those who played the numbers. The hymn numbers didn't pay off, but the word went around that Adam Clayton Powell was back in form.

Cuts in Draft Augur Well For an All-Volunteer Army

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—An analysis of several unreported government studies and projections indicates President Nixon's restructured defense and Vietnam programs will give him the option in 1970 of drafting less than half as many young men as were ordered to service in 1968 or 1969.

That is, during most of 1970 draft calls could run at 10,000 to 15,000 a month or less, as compared with 29,000 a month which was normal during most of this year and last.

This ability to cut calls will give Nixon a powerful lever in dealing with anti-draft demonstrations.

It will put him a strong step toward an all-volunteer army in Vietnam, a step which some of his analysts believe will defuse the antiwar talk sufficiently to secure for Nixon the time he needs to secure independence and self-government for that Southeast Asian country.

This draft reduction reasoning assumes:

President Nixon will withdraw between 125,000 and 150,000 men from Vietnam in 1970 as Vietnamization of the war expands.

That the over-all strength of the armed services (worldwide, including the United States) in 1970 will be cut by 200,000 or more to meet budget reduction targets.

That volunteering for the armed services in 1970 does not drop by more than 50,000. (There has been a tendency over the years for volunteering to decrease when draft calls decline.)

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps training and replacement cycles remain roughly as they have been during the past several years.

That military re-enlistments will not drop precipitously.

In an attempt to insure that re-enlistments and volunteering continue at acceptable levels, Defense Secretary Laird is now pushing hard at committees under his direction to come up with pay increases and other inducements that would go into effect as quickly as Congress could be induced to vote them.

In part to pave the way for an all-volunteer army in Vietnam, the President has given top priority to the quick withdrawal of combat units, though there are considerable numbers of service troops no longer required there. This action is calculated, of course, to reduce casualties. Lower casualties (besides easing U.S. public opinion) should, it is reasoned, make Vietnam service more attractive to the volunteer.

Goodell Seeks Youth Backing

By CHARLES DUMAS

Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Charles E. Goodell is making a strong bid to become the new political piper of the nation's youth.

Politically motivated youngsters have been without an anti-establishment hero since the death of Robert F. Kennedy and the withdrawal of U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy from active leadership.

Suddenly Goodell was propelled himself into the vacuum with his attempt to legislate an end to the Vietnam war—a posture that has captured the collegians' fancy.

The 43-year-old Jamestown Republican now is doing his utmost to capitalize on the newfound fame, obviously in hope that the vocal support of youth will rescue his political future from its presently precarious position.

As has been reported many times, Goodell has fallen into serious disfavor with the GOP establishment here since Gov. Rockefeller appointed him to fill Kennedy's Senate seat.

Conservative Republicans complain that Goodell, known as a moderate while serving as a congressman, abruptly turned his back on his origins in an effort to win liberal support there has been serious talk of denying him the nomination to run for a full term next year.

Among other things, Goodell's critics say he has tried to fill Kennedy's shoes too precisely—to the extent not only of adopting his political philosophy but also of creating a similar personal image.

They noted, for example, that Goodell, once closely guarded, has let his hair grow full in the back and has been cultivating long, thick sideburns.

Goodell aides counter by observing that many other politicians have gone the hair route, as a device to help bridge the much discussed generation gap.

Goodell became one of the most sought-after speakers for last week's Moratorium Day activities, and he spent two days on a cross-state swing that took him to college campuses in Syracuse, Ithaca, Rochester and New York City.

At Queens College, he was introduced by a student as a person who had "sensed the feeling of his country" in the same manner as Kennedy and McCarthy had.

Some students were doing a brisk business selling buttons that said "You're a Good Man, Charlie Goodell."

Rockefeller and other New York GOP leaders are watching the development with heightening interest.

The governor has strongly criticized Goodell's Vietnam proposal and is known to be dissatisfied with the senator's performance. But persons close to Rockefeller say he is loathe to abandon his appointee completely.

If Goodell can strengthen his political position in any way, he probably will have Rockefeller in his corner at nomination time. An outpouring of support from politically active youth just might turn the trick.

Allied Delegations to Saigon

New Speculation on a Cease-Fire

PARIS (UPI)—The two Allied peace talks delegations sent their top military advisers to Saigon today amid speculation the Allies are considering a cease-fire proposal in the war.

An American spokesman said Col. Nguyen Huu Loi and Lt. Gen. Frederick C. Weyland were making the trip as part of a "routine series of consultations."

The trip coincided with consistent reports that the United States and the South Vietnamese were considering a general cease-fire proposal under which both sides would agree to stop shooting.

As military advisers to the Allied peace talks teams, Loi and Weyland could be assigned to prepare a report on the military feasibility of such a move, analysts said.

Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. negotiator who cut short Thursday's negotiating session to dramatize his displeasure over the attitude of Communist negotiators, is known to have been considering such a cease-fire proposal for months.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird Wednesday publicly ruled out any unilateral cease-fire by Allied troops, but nothing in his speech eliminated the idea of a standdown agreement by both sides.

Up to now, the United States has proposed localized cease-fires and Saigon negotiators have expressed a willingness to negotiate a cease-fire. But the proposal of a general stop to the shooting has never been made publicly at least.

Even Lodge's sudden departure from the conference table

Thursday, while aimed at underlining the intransigence of the Communist side, appeared to preface a change in tactics.

"I thought the time had come for somebody to make a punctuation mark," Lodge told newsmen. He said he had sought to call world attention to the unreasonable Communist position by making his early departure.

An the war front U.S. troops killed 50 guerrillas in five Saigon-area fights reported by military spokesmen today.

Four of the five skirmishes flared northwest of Saigon on guerrilla approach routes to the capital. The longest, an eight-hour battle, occurred two miles from the Cambodian border.

American headquarters said the U.S. footsoldiers, naval pistol boats and air men, lost one dead and one wounded in the fights.

This fighting did not detract from the six-week battle lull, for military spokesmen reported light fighting elsewhere, with six overnight Communist shellings attacking doing light damage.

Five waves of B52 bombers went into action during the night, three of them bombing targets in the northern war zone and two hitting suspected guerrilla bivouacs along the Cambodian frontier.

Two miles from that border Thursday, troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division called in Air Force fighter-bombers to help them in killing 18 North Vietnamese in the biggest Saigon-area fight of the day.

One American was killed and one wounded in the battling near the village of Go Dau Ha. Another of the clashes northwest of Saigon saw U.S. Navy river patrol boats kill seven guerrillas trying to ford the Saigon River near Ben Cat, a U.S. infantry base.

These other fights were reported from the area between Saigon and the Cambodian border.

—U.S. troops caught a squad of Viet Cong on the move 27 miles northwest of Saigon and killed five of them.

—9th Infantry Division troops patrolling 25 miles southwest of Saigon killed 10 guerrillas without a loss after nightfall.

—Backed by helicopter, gunships, American troops fought a 15-minute clash 25 miles northwest of Saigon, killing 10 guerrilla soldiers, also near Ben Cat.

Criminal Charges May Face Sergeants

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sgt. Maj. William E. Wooldridge and M.Sgt. William E. Higdon, also awaited three retired NCO clubs scandal since 1962, returned to their Army posts today facing the threat of possible criminal charges.

Both still were sergeants' stripes. But senators who delved into their alleged financial shenanigans expressed confidence the Army, the Justice Department or both would arrest them soon on criminal charges.

Possible criminal prosecution also awaited three retired soldiers. One, former Army Provost Marshal Carl C. Turner, who served briefly as the Nixon administration's chief of U.S. marshals, was tabbed by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., as "the crux" of the scandal.

"These hearings have produced testimony which indicates a serious betrayal of public trust by a small number of men," Ribicoff said, summarizing a seven-month investigation and three weeks of testimony before his Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

Army investigators accused Turner of squelching investigations of Wooldridge. Turner partially admitted it, although he said he was motivated by a zealous aversion to "witch hunts." The others were sergeants with Wooldridge and Higdon at Augsburg, Germany, in the early 1960s.

One, Seymour "Sandy" Lazar, retired in 1967 to become president of Maremont Co., a firm the sergeants allegedly formed to sell supplies to themselves as custodians of enlisted men's clubs. The other, Narvaez Hatcher, retired a year later and runs a fishing boat at Pensacola, Fla. "I'm still a soldier and I hope I'm going back to active duty," Wooldridge told newsmen after pleading the Fifth Amendment

39 times. The Defense Department said

Wooldridge was returning today to his post at the White Sands Missile Range, N.M. Higdon was sent back to Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala. Ribicoff ordered transcripts of the hearings sent to the prosecution.

Defense and Justice departments. "The subcommittee is confident appropriate action will be taken regarding this conspiracy," he said.

"These criminal actions that have been charged will have to be tried in the courts," said

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., to his post at the White Sands Missile Range. Wooldridge, Higdon and Hatcher were pleading the Fifth Amendment in anticipation of criminal of the prosecution.

Barry Criticizes Scott

Flicker of Conservative Restiveness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has acidly criticized the Vietnam cease-fire proposal of Sen. Hugh Scott, adding the Republican leader does not necessarily speak for his GOP colleagues.

It was the first flicker of conservative Republican restiveness since Scott, a self-described progressive, became GOP leader last month.

Goldwater noted Scott had said he was not in the habit of clearing his ideas in advance with the White House.

"I think it would be helpful if he would also state that he is not in the habit of clearing such statements with all members of his own political party in the Senate," Goldwater said.

In advancing the plan for a unilateral U.S. cease-fire, to remain effective unless the Communists violate it, Scott said he was offering a personal hope.

The Pentagon promptly rejected the idea, and so did Goldwater.

"I for one wish to make it very plain that while I recognize the senator from Pennsylvania has been duly selected minority leader of my party, I do not accept his personal recommendations on any and all subjects," Goldwater told the Senate.

Goldwater said unilateral action will merely convince the Communists we are afraid of them.

Scott, in Sharon, Pa., renewed the cease-fire call Thursday night.

"I hope that a cease-fire will be announced just as soon as it can be safely arranged," he said.

That speech was the latest in a series of almost nightly appearances at Republican fund raising dinners in Pennsylvania where Scott will seek re-election next year.

Scott won re-election in 1964 despite the crushing defeat of Goldwater, who was the Republican presidential nominee. He has a record of attracting Democratic and independent voters.

"In that regard, the minority leader's job is a mixed blessing," said another Pennsylvania GOP politician. "He's trying to accommodate the President, on the one hand, and he's trying to accommodate his colleagues in the Senate, and he has to consider his constituency."

A crucial test in all three departments could be the confirmation vote on Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., President Nixon's choice for the Supreme Court.

Scott, who describes himself as undecided, is under heavy administration pressure to vote for confirmation, which would judge of violating judicial canons of ethics.

House Speakers Chair In Limelight Now

NEW YORK (AP)—Life magazine charges that a Washington lobbyist received $5,000 in cash to wield influence in a tax evasion case while sitting in House Speaker John W. McCormack's chair in the speaker's private office. McCormack was not present at the time, Life says.

The Life article also describes several other alleged fixes and fix attempts involving both the lobbyist and McCormack's suspended chief aide and claims "the evidence is that McCormack was more than naively involved in whatever took place in his office."

Life, in the article written by William Lambert to appear in the Oct. 31 edition, identifies the lobbyist and alleged fixer as Nathan Voloshen, a 71-year-old "purported lawyer in Maryland who is a close friend of the speaker."

Both Voloshen and Dr. Martin Sweig, whom McCormack suspended last week as his administrative assistant, are currently targets of a Securities and Exchange Commission complaint.

The article said that Dr. Irving Helfert, a Dayton, Ohio, urologist accused of evading more than $300,000 in federal taxes, counted out the $5,000 in cash in McCormack's office and handed it to Voloshen.

"Voloshen said he would mail Helfert a receipt, and the doctor would be hearing from him," Lambert wrote. "But he never did. The doctor was convicted, fined $15,000 and given a suspended jail sentence."

No Comment
Neither McCormack nor Voloshen was immediately available for comment on the article.

"Life's inquiries have uncovered literally dozens of fixed cases, near-fires and plain shakedown emanating from Voloshen's power base in the speaker's office. All have been turned over to the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Service which in turn have conducted investigations leading to more cases," the article said.

In Washington neither the Justice Department nor the IRS would comment. Life said that while Lambert was working on the article, a friend of Voloshen's approached an investigator and said $50,000 would be paid Lambert to drop the story—$25,000 down and the remainder in six months if the article did not appear.

The article said Life began its investigation last March. It said that when the SEC mentioned Sweig and Voloshen in a civil suit this month, "Speaker McCormack responded immediately by suspending Sweig and disclaiming any knowledge of or connection with misdeeds which Sweig or Voloshen might have been involved."

"The fact is that Speaker McCormack knew at least as far back as midsummer that not only Life but two federal grand juries were looking into Voloshen's affairs, and that since then he has held a series of urgent conferences with Sweig and Voloshen. For the evidence is that

To Live in Egypt

CAIRO (UPI)—King Idris of Libya, deposed eight weeks ago in a military takeover, has been granted permission to live in Egypt, the newspaper Al-Ahram said today.

McCormack was more than naively involved in whatever took place in his office."

"In one instance," Life said, "the speaker himself phoned the New York commissioner of parole on behalf of a convicted corporate larcenist who had paid Voloshen at least $75,000, first to try to keep him out of jail, then to shorten his sentence."

Life said the call was made to Russell G. Oswald, chairman of the New York State Board of Parole, on behalf of Edward M. Gilbert, who pleaded guilty to a $2 million securities theft.

"Although it has been implied that Sweig and Voloshen both impersonated McCormack's voice, there seems little doubt of the authenticity of this particular call," Life said.

At His Disposal

"McCormack's offices—both good and congressional—were readily at Voloshen's disposal, as were those of ... Sweig," the article said. "Wherever Voloshen has moved in recent years he has been known as the speaker's man, or the man from the speaker's office."

"Precisely how much action this has evoked is unknown, as is the precise degree of involvement of Speaker McCormack himself in Voloshen's manipulations."

Life says McCormack admitted knowing Voloshen for 10 years, but in a public rather than private or personal way, and quotes the speaker as adding, "I have never had any business or financial relationship with Mr. Voloshen or anyone else, nor was my office, with my knowledge or consent, ever used for his personal or private business."

the all-day conference, to be held Saturday, November 15, are Ronald Donovan, Director of the Industrial Labor Relations School's Public Service Training Program; Richard S. Rubin, an Extension Associate in the I. L. R. School's Public Service Training Program; and Byron Yaffe, an Assistant Professor of Labor Relations at the School.

The conference will run from 9:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on the college's Stone Ridge campus. It will cover recent changes in the Taylor Law with a revision of the major provisions of the Law and the role of the Public Relations Board.

The main feature of the Conference will be discussions in the use of Mediation and Fact Finding in resolving disputes. There will be a description of the processes of Mediation and Fact Finding and the manner in which they fit into collective negotiations. Also highlighted will be alternative methods of dispute settlement including voluntary arbitration. Separate workshops will be run in the afternoon session for special interest groups.

Donovan, an Associate Professor of Industrial and Labor Relations at the Cornell School, has degrees from Western Reserve University and the University of Minnesota, and formerly was on the faculty of the Pennsylvania State University. He is a member of the Public Employment Relations Board Mediation and Fact-Finding Panel.

Rubin was employed in private industry in various personnel functions before going to Cornell. He has served as both mediator and fact-finder for the Public Employment Relations Board and has degrees from Middlebury College and Cornell University.

Yaffe joined the I. L. R. faculty this year after coming from the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission where he served as a staff mediator. He has also worked for the National Labor Relations Board where he was advisor to NLRB member John Fanning and for the United States Civil Service Commission and the United States Department of Labor. He is a graduate of the Georgetown University Law School and also holds degrees from Washington University and the University of Illinois.

This conference of special interest to public employees and employers is organized as a Continuing Education Program of the College. Complete information and registration forms may be obtained by calling the Office of Continuing Education.

First Husband-Wife Team In Official Cabinet Family

WASHINGTON (AP) — The First Lady has a new $30,000 a year press secretary-staff director and as a result the Richard Nixons have the first husband-wife team in their official family.

While Constance Cornell Stuart, 31, is guiding Mrs. Nixon's public relations in the East Wing of the White House, her husband Charles, 32, is at work in the West Wing as a staff assistant to presidential counsel, John Ehrlichman.

Mrs. Nixon announced Thursday that Mrs. Stuart, an attractive redhead, would be her new "chief of staff."

She replaces Gerry Van der Heuvel who after 11 months as Mrs. Nixon's press aide is taking a job as special assistant to U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin at Rome.

Mrs. Stuart, a native of Wheeling, W. Va., came to the White House from a job as public relations supervisor for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. where she specialized in TV film projects. The 1960 University of Maryland graduate also has worked in public relations in New York City.

Saying she has always voted Republican, Mrs. Stuart said she first met Mrs. Nixon last year during the presidential election campaign when her husband was working as a Nixon advance man.

Raichle Is Patient at Benedictine

KINGSTON — County Legislator Clarence C. Raichle (R-City) is reported to be a patient at Benedictine Hospital's coronary care unit. He was admitted to the hospital Wednesday after having suffered an apparent heart attack.

Hearing Set On ABC Charge

MARLBORO — A preliminary hearing for Hardy Williams, 46, of Lattintown Road, on a charge of illegal sales of alcohol beverages, has been scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 30 before Town Justice Patrick Mataraza.

Williams was arrested Sunday by Sheriff William B. Martin, Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Deputy Henry Newman with State Police and local authorities. The defendant also was charged with possessing gambling devices.

Williams previously pleaded guilty to the gambling count and was fined $200, which he paid. Bail on the other charge was fixed at $1,000.

LOSES $1 MILLION BID — Actress Elizabeth Taylor bid $1 million yesterday at an auction in New York for a perfect 69.42 carat white diamond, but lost it to Cartier Inc., the Fifth Avenue jewelers, which bid $500,000 more. The underbidder for the stone that set a world auction record for a piece of jewelry was identified as Al Yugler of Frank Pollak and Sons, a West side jewelry firm, who said he was bidding for Miss Taylor. Top GOP Officials At Meeting in City

KINGSTON — A top-level GOP meeting in Kingston today between State Chairman Charles T. Lanigan and state and local officials and the announcement of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's intention to seek another term, were reported by County Chairman Albert Spada.

Spada, who attended a recent meeting of the state's GOP county chairman at the governor's mansion in Albany, said that at that time Rockefeller told the group that he would again be a candidate for reelection and would have Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and Attorney General

Louis Lefkowitz on his campaign team. It is reported that Rockefeller neglected to include Sen. Charles Goodell as a running mate. The governor also announced that Burdell Bixby would be his campaign chairman.

Today's luncheon meeting at the Dutch Rathskeller was designed to afford the county's 20 town chairmen opportunity to meet with Lanigan. Also accompanying the state chairman was John Vandercourt, his administrative assistant.

In attendance at the meeting, called to exchange ideas for the further betterment of the Republican Party were: Spada, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, State Sen. Jay P. Rolison, Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature and the town chairmen.

Final Hearing In Rosendale

MAPLE HILL — "Minor revisions" to the Rosendale town proposed zoning ordinance will be explained to the public at a hearing here Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the community building, Planning Board Chairman Howard Mansfield said today.

Mansfield said the public hearing will be the final one before it presents the proposed ordinance to the town board. "The hearing will consist of the people of what we will present to the town," said the chairman adding, "I hope to see a good attendance."

Menacing Is Charged to Katrine Man

LAKE KATRINE — Ronald Earl Gedney, 33, of Ciccone Trailer Park, was arrested Thursday by Kingston State Police on a charge of menacing third degree following a complaint from a neighbor. Gedney, authorities said, was accused of threatening Frank Cogswell with a carving knife. Troopers Carl Van Wagenen and E. A. Zeboris arraigned Gedney before Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan who adjourned hearing until Wednesday, Oct. 29.

In lieu of $500 bail, Gedney was committed to the county jail.

Vols Hear Reports on Prevention

WEST CAMP Reports of Fire Prevention Week activities were presented at Tuesday's session of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held at West Camp Fire Station as guests of Malden West Camp Fire Company.

Ernest Dunn, fire prevention chairman noted that fire drills were held in all schools in the county and Saugerties and Rosendale volunteers held parades in their villages for the youngsters. Ruth McGeeney, Miss Ulster County, who is an honorary county fire chief, participated in both events.

John Mahoney, chairman of the Fire Training Center Committee reported that his committee and a group from the County Fire Chief's Association will meet shortly with the Fire Advisory Board of the County Legislature to plan and discuss the matter of establishing a fire training center on county property at New Paltz.

In a discussion on the use of blue lights and fire emblems on private cars of volunteer firemen, it was decided that the fire chiefs of each company issue special permits to members who have blue lights and fire company emblems on their cars.

Secretary Fred Harder reported that a life member, Lawrence Beutner of Hurley Fire Department died Oct. 3. The application of Thomas Ubertoof Walker Valley was accepted for membership.

Valmore F. Carpenter, vice president of Malden West Camp Fire Company welcomed the more than 100 members, representing 28 fire fighting units. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 18 at West Hurley Fire Station.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened mixed in moderately active trading.

In the absence of constructive news carryover profit taking from Thursday and normal pre-weekend evening operations could work against the list. Some analysts note there still is "room for further declines" after the recent push forward. But they point out that peace hopes could generate additional demand.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a gain of 0.26 per cent on 304 issues crossing the tape. There were 124 advances, and 80 declines.

Oils moved forward, while electronics showed scattered strength. Steels were steady.

In the motors, Ford held unchanged at 44½, but American Motors dipped ½ to 11½. General Motors was steady at 75½. Chrysler picked up ¼ to 42½.

Penn Central edged up ¼ to 34½ in the rails but Southern Pacific eased ½ to 36½.

Du Pont gave up ½ to 117½ among the chemicals, with Monsanto down ½ to 41½.

U.S. Steel was unchanged at 37½. Republic up ½ to 30½, and Armco up ¼ to 29½. Bethlehem was unchanged at 29.

Collection of Leaves In City Starts Monday

KINGSTON program, and residents are urged to cooperate. The Department of Public Works is prepared to initiate its Charles J. Cole, superintendent, said operations for the 1969 fall collection of leaves within that area are bounded by Broadway, Albany Avenue, Manor Avenue, Kierstedt Avenue, the Town of Ulster line and the Penn Central Railroad.

Comments on Protection For Plattekill RR Area

KINGSTON petition to the commission signed by 25 or more residents of Ulster County.

Another prime mover for the installation of additional protective devices, County Legislator Joseph Martorana (R-Dist. 9) told The Freeman in a letter today that, "I am happy to inform you that in my own efforts with state officials and agencies The Kingston Daily Freeman articles (on the crossing) were included as evidence of the community's cry for action. You can, therefore, also share in the satisfaction that your newspaper was part of the overall effort to remedy a very dangerous condition affecting the public."

Mention of the petition is also included in a communique from George McHugh, chief of the railroad bureau to the Public Service Commission.

McHugh's letter states that the matter of installing automatic flashing light signals at this crossing was referred to the Penn Central Railroad Company and its assistant general attorney advised by letter dated Sept. 30 that they would accept an order to install automatic flashing light signals in accordance with railroad law.

The estimated cost of the installation is $12,000. Funds are available for any state's share of cost.

Mowbray Road is a town highway extending in a north-south direction connecting two town roads. The roadway crosses the single track railroad at a 55 degree angle. Each approach to the crossing is at a five per cent grade. Views of approaching trains are restricted in all quadrants. There is a daily average of six freight trains and the maximum authorized speed is 50 miles per hour. The crossing is presently protected by two reflectorized crossing signs.

Two accidents have been reported in the past 10 years resulting in this year's five deaths and one person being injured in another accident. A traffic count taken for three days tabulated a daily average of 180 vehicles.

Morgan Trust Seeks Missing Securities

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. has lost $13,194,000 worth of U.S. Treasury securities and the FBI is trying to help the bank find them.

The Wall Street bank, which has not termed the loss a theft, said the securities have been missing at least since Tuesday. The loss was discovered through "regular auditing procedures," a bank spokesman said.

The securities—which come due next April—are covered by insurance. The bills range in denomination from $1,000 to $1 million.

Morgan Guaranty, which has assets of $10.7 billion, is circulating the serial numbers to domestic and foreign banks as well as to police departments. The government sells the short-term bills in large quantity each month.

The bank says it will search again for the bills. Meanwhile, police and FBI agents have been talking to bank employees about the disappearance.

Hunt for Weapons

LONDON (UPI)—British Army troops pumped water from a 15 million gallon reservoir today in a search for an arms cache. The search began after children found parts of a rifle and other arms near the predominantly Roman Catholic Bogside area where rioting broke out in August.

Residents within that area are requested to rake leaves from their property and deposit them in the gutter. At that point the leaves should be wet down daily until collection crews arrive to reduce the fire hazard and minimize scattering by wind and passing vehicles, Cole said.

Cole urges residents not to rake the leaves into the gutter until areas for collection have been scheduled and publicized.

"Cooperation in this respect," Cole said, "will not only minimize a fire hazard, but will facilitate roadway drainage in event of rain."

The BPW official said subsequent bulletins will be published well in advance of collection schedules, to allow residents sufficient time to rake the leaves into the gutter in front of their properties.

Senate Finance Committee Surprises Many Friends and Critics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The depletion allowance to 23 per cent approved cut to 20 per cent and its action Thursday will raise other modifications, the committee softened the blow to the oil and natural gas industry. The industry's taxes by $155 million a year instead of the $400 million approved by the House in its tax reform bill, probably will reflect a compromise between the House and the Senate Committee's this year or in early 1970 decisions.

3-Week Wrapup for Chest, Total Now at $275,430

KINGSTON — Robert T. Brown, general chairman of the 1969-70 Ulster County Community Chest campaign announced today that there will be a three-week wrapup effort due to a lack of volunteer help in prime areas. The campaign was to end officially Saturday, Oct. 25.

Brown said that the average contribution has increased 10 per cent over last year but only 55 per cent of the accounts have been solicited.

As of Thursday, $275,430 has been received representing 68 per cent of the $411,000 goal. An additional $135,570 must be raised to provide the minimum operating costs of the Community Chest's 15 agencies.

Brown said that "a volunteer force of over 70 individuals will be responsible for personally contacting the outstanding accounts." The goal of $411,000, Brown said, "is still within our reach." A complete campaign report will be released within 10 days showing the progress of the campaign by division.

Brown added that returns from the outlying areas, particularly Saugerties, Woodstock and New Paltz, have been slow.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Ulster County Community Chest and has not been contacted by a Chest representative, may mail or deliver their contribution personally to the Community Chest office, 15 Albany Avenue.

The member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scout, Boys Club, USO, Red Cross, YMCA, YWCA, Jewish Community Center, Ulster County Blood Bank, Gateway Industries, Cerebral Palsy, Association for Retarded Children, Mental Health and Family Service Center.

Garraghan's Relatives Show UR Profit---Tyrrell

KINGSTON—James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor said today that the relatives of the mayor have been able to realize substantial profits from the sale of property to urban renewal under the Democratic administration.

Tyrrell said the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency paid Basement Realty Inc. $7.62 per square foot for land in Converse and North Front Street within 24 hours after Basement Realty purchased the land from Ballard Oil Inc. for 4.91 per square foot.

Tyrrell said persons owning comparable properties were paid less. The adjoining property, known as the Goodyear property was purchased by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency for $1.42 per square foot.

Tyrrell said the prices paid to Basement Realty, a firm operated by the relatives of the Mayor, appear to be out of line. He said the Urban Renewal Agency paid Basement Realty $20,300 for 2,623 square feet and paid only $33,000 for 24,100 square feet when they purchased the Goodyear property which adjoins the Basement Realty property. Tyrrell continued, the Urban Renewal Agency paid $41,000 for 15,000 square feet when they purchased the Garden Center from Mayor Garraghan.

The Republican candidate said, Basement Realty, Inc. purchased land in Converse and North Front Street and sold one-third of the property to Urban Renewal and now the two thirds they have retained is worth more according to Urban Renewal prices than it was at the time of the original purchase.

Tyrrell said he expects the Mayor will now call on an alleged expert . . . employed by Urban Renewal to present the same figures in a different way in an effort to mislead the public.

Tyrrell concluded, "This is favoritism in the worst order and because of it Kingston is becoming a closed corporation."

Tyrrell also said today that it is his hope that his administration will help bring the family together through city recreation.

"We need a program designed to provide varied recreation for as many family members as possible," Tyrrell said. "We now have scattered recreational facilities which can be improved and coordinated."

stated that the start of this program will be a municipal swimming facility capable of serving all age groups. "Our parks can be properly lighted in such a way as to provide facilities for year-round activities," he said.

The recent soap box derby, Tyrrell noted, "was a welcome addition to the city program and the Jaycees did a tremendous job."

In conclusion, Tyrrell suggested the establishment of a Parks Department within the Department of Public Works to insure effective maintenance of city parks.

and many of its ultimate plans, some of which could be completed in 1970."

"In addition," Koenig concluded, "It might well point the way to effective joint constructive action in the future for many other plans to bring permanent improvements to our city."

The candidate concluded that every citizen who has served on such committees in the past should be congratulated for his efforts. I would only hope that as your mayor, I might be able to help the people encourage them, and to strive to revitalize every such committee and to lead them to even greater accomplishments for the city that means so much to all of us."

Francis R. Koenig, Democratic and Liberal candidate for mayor said today, "I believe that it is absolutely essential for the eventual, successful completion of our Urban Renewal projects, that we have active participation by various citizen committees."

Koenig explained that "without citizen involvement and participation, it just isn't possible to have a truly representative form of government. I would like to see men and women from all walks and segments of economic and social life involved in the citizens committees. I would like to see men and women who have proven themselves through success in business and in public service serve upon these committees in charting the current and future courses of our city, especially for the attainment of the fine goals of urban renewal."

The candidate continued, "all of the residents of the city ought to be kept extremely well informed at all times of the operations of the urban renewal agency, its problems and its projects, and the progress that it is able to bring about. Yes, and even of the obstacles the agency may encounter. I sincerely believe that the net result will be better for everyone."

"Sometimes it has seemed most frustrating for the people, as they looked at urban renewal, because they just weren't fully acquainted with the facts, or even aware of what was being done. Or, if nothing seemed to be accomplished, that there might possibly have been understandable reasons why certain delays were caused," Koenig said.

The candidate explained that he was extremely encouraged to believe that there could be a much improved relationship between the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, the mayor's office, citizens committees and the general public, through a much closer liaison, and with more frequent press releases and reports by the agency in particular.

Koenig then referred to the interim report of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, released in September of this year. "That report," according to the Democratic and Liberal candidate for Mayor, "is an eight page summary of the purposes of the agency and its Urban renewal plans, an explanation of the taxes the agency pays the City, for a period following acquisition of property, and many of its ultimate plans, some of which could be completed in 1970."

"In addition," Koenig concluded, "It might well point the way to effective joint constructive action in the future for many other plans to bring permanent improvements to our city."

The candidate concluded that every citizen who has served on such committees in the past should be congratulated for his efforts. I would only hope that as your mayor, I might be able to help the people encourage them, and to strive to revitalize every such committee and to lead them to even greater accomplishments for the city that means so much to all of us."

Francis R. Koenig, Democratic and Liberal candidate for mayor said today, "I believe that it is absolutely essential for the eventual, successful completion of our Urban Renewal projects, that we have active participation by various citizen committees."

Koenig explained that "without citizen involvement and participation, it just isn't possible to have a truly representative form of government. I would like to see men and women from all walks and segments of economic and social life involved in the citizens committees. I would like to see men and women who have proven themselves through success in business and in public service serve upon these committees in charting the current and future courses of our city, especially for the attainment of the fine goals of urban renewal."

The candidate continued, "all of the residents of the city ought to be kept extremely well informed at all times of the operations of the urban renewal agency, its problems and its projects, and the progress that it is able to bring about. Yes, and even of the obstacles the agency may encounter. I sincerely believe that the net result will be better for everyone."

"Sometimes it has seemed most frustrating for the people, as they looked at urban renewal, because they just weren't fully acquainted with the facts, or even aware of what was being done. Or, if nothing seemed to be accomplished, that there might possibly have been understandable reasons why certain delays were caused," Koenig said.

The candidate explained that he was extremely encouraged to believe that there could be a much improved relationship between the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, the mayor's office, citizens committees and the general public, through a much closer liaison, and with more frequent press releases and reports by the agency in particular.

Koenig then referred to the interim report of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, released in September of this year. "That report," according to the Democratic and Liberal candidate for Mayor, "is an eight page summary of the purposes of the agency and its Urban renewal plans, an explanation of the taxes the agency pays the City, for a period following acquisition of property, and many of its ultimate plans, some of which could be completed in 1970."

Radel Praises Ray On Downtown Progress

KINGSTON—Edwin F. Radel, former mayor of Kingston, today released the contents of a letter he has written to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan concerning urban renewal progress in the downtown project.

Radel said, "I noticed with interest the recent article about the ground-breaking for several private homes in the Urban Renewal area. I could not let this Urban Renewal milestone pass without some personal comment to you in recognition of the progress you have shown on the program."

"The program has been controversial. It has been criticized over and over by its detractors. A considerable amount of the criticism has been based upon half-truths, or upon supposition or upon a complete unawareness of the facts."

"Following my predecessor's many attempts, but his inability to get Republican support for the program, Urban Renewal for Kingston was my personal goal during my terms in city hall."

It was born and nurtured of my dreams and efforts and the cooperation of the Common Council which then had a Democratic majority, together with the acquiescence of the Republican aldermen.

Since I did not have the opportunity to see it through to completion, I observed the indifferent attitude of the succeeding administration displayed towards the total program. There were times that I thought the program would be doomed because of that attitude. However, the program survived in spite of it.

I am aware that there were stormy sessions since you accepted vast responsibilities of City Hall, but I could see that you valued the program and would press for progress. I hope it was apparent to the general public.

With the recent activities on the site of the old "junk yard", progress is obvious. True, much has been accomplished that is underground and not visible to the eye, but I feel that with the start of construction of these homes, the nucleus of the ultimate goal is being formed and progress from here on will be obvious to the general public.

"Again I want you to know that I am pleased to see this vivid spark of progress in a program that had its beginning when I shared the responsibilities you now assume."

Radel concluded.

Barbara Glennon Exchanges Vows

Miss Barbara L. Glennon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Glennon of 148 West Stout Avenue, Port Ewen, became the bride of Frank D. Prelich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Prelich Sr., of 36 Semel Avenue, Garfield, N. J., Saturday, Oct. 11 at Church of Presentation in Port Ewen.

The Rev. John Murphy CSsR officiated at the double ring ceremony. Veronica Corcoran, organist, accompanied Rita Horvers who sang traditional wedding selections. Baskets of yellow gladioli and white chrysanthemums decorated the altar and white bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a dirndl skirted empire gown of satin brocade with tiny bows accenting the high waistline and long fitted sleeves. The gown was styled by the bride's mother and featured a piped wedding ring collar and tiny covered buttons down the back. A lace petal cap trimmed with pearls and crystals held her four tier illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white rosebuds and baby carnations.

Mrs. Arthur Casey of Parish Lane, Lake Katrine, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in a peacock brocade empire styled gown with a softly gathered skirt. The gown featured full chiffon sleeves cuffed with brocade and chiffon circling the high waistline. A petal cap of looped bows served as her headpiece and she carried a full nosegay of yellow and white chrysanthemums with white streamers.

Attendants were Miss Debra Basch of Hurley and Mrs. Frank Longo, sister of the bridegroom, Garfield, N. J. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant's and they carried full nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums with yellow streamers.

MRS. FRANK D. PRELICH

Raymond Prelich of Garfield, N. J., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Cerone, Saddle Brook, N. J. and Raymond Horvers of Port Ewen.

A reception for 125 guests was held at Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride chose a gold knit coat-dress with contrasting scarf, brown alligator shoes and purse, and a corsage of white rosebuds.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, attended Ulster County Community College and State University of New York at Cortland. She is employed with New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Rutherford, N. J. Her husband, an alumnus of Garfield High School, Garfield, N. J., is employed for Coca Cola Bottling Company, Patterson, N. J. He served three years with the Military Police, during his service in the U.S. he completed an 18 month tour of Vietnam and attained the rank of sergeant.

Mr. and Mrs. Prelich will reside at 60 Krakow Street, Garfield, N. J.

ATTENDING the recent meeting of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, Ulster County Council, were (L-R) Norman Rafalowsky, president, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, ticket chairman, and Robert Winrow, subscription chairman.

Membership Dinner for Sisterhood Is Held

Sisterhood Ahavath Israel held its annual paid-up membership dinner October 8. The evening's program consisted of installation of new members by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman and a fashion show by Valley Casuals.

Approximately 125 women attended the dinner prepared by co-chairmen Mrs. William Zwick and Mrs. Harry Spiegel. On their committee were the Mmes. Ephraim Propp, Pearl Adin, Murray Greene, Irving Reuben, David Seigal, and Alvin Werbalowsky.

Installed as new members were Leah Jane Bernstein, Dorothy Gersh, Lillian Goldberg, Mollie Goldstein, Sara Ohse, Dorothy Rose, Lee Salomon, Judy Schectman, Helene Schildon, Sadie Semiloff, and Marcia Stein. The Mmes. Leonard Kronin and Henry Singer are the membership chairmen.

Modeling were the Mmes. Bernard Cohen, Richard Felner, Sanford Gossett, Noman Kestin, Rose Nussbaum, and Miss Lynette Zang. Mrs. Arnold Goldschlag narrated the show and Mrs. Henry Singer provided the piano accompaniment. Mrs. David Weinstein assisted the models. Arrangements for the fashion show were made by program chairmen the Mmes. Seymour Semiloff and Arnold Goldschlag.

Sisterhood held an art auction on October 12. Chairman for the event was Mrs. Marvin Millens and those on her committee were Mrs. Morton Brett, Mrs. Jerry Ettinger, Mrs. Murray Greene, Mrs. Irving Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobs, Marvin Millens, Mr. and Mrs. William Ohse, Mrs. Irving Reuben, Mrs. Steven Scher, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shaw. Dr. Murray Greene served as auctioneer at the beginning of the program.

Philharmonic Society Reports

The October meeting of the Ulster County Council of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hutchins, 10 Cardinal Drive, Woodstock.

Entertainment prior to the meeting was provided by the Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Henry Sykes. Singing in the group were: Mrs. Bruce Brough and Mrs. Gunther Zoefield, soprano; Mrs. Edward Balmer and Mrs. Walter Hutchins, alto; Henry Sykes, tenor; and James Cummin, and Tony Criscimagna, bass.

Reports were made by the chairman of the various committees of the Philharmonic, Robert Winrow and Mrs. Amos Newcombe reported that the Philharmonic is playing before a very full house this season. Mrs. C. Lincoln Christensen reported that the Philharmonic notes have been sent to all subscribers in Ulster County. In addition, Philharmonic Notes are sent from the Poughkeepsie Office of Philharmonic to subscribers in all three counties where concerts are played. Serving on the committee for Ulster County Philharmonic Notes are: Mrs. Christensen, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ickes, Mrs. Thomas Horsey, and Mrs. Walter Hutchins. The notes from Ulster County Council will be published before each concert date.

A report was made by Chairman Mrs. Richard Barnett on the status of the In School Concert Program. Schools are now being given the opportunity to provide live instruction by members of the orchestra to their students, as part of this program. Any school wishing to avail themselves of this service may contact Mrs. Barnett, or the other members of the committee: Mrs. Charles Ronder and Mrs. Gordon Anderson.

Mrs. Francis Mattison, chairman of the Program Ads Committee, reported that area businessmen may take advantage of the Philharmonic Concert Program to advertise, as well as to aid the Society.

Board members were briefed on the sustaining fund drive that is being organized now for later in the Spring. Many area businessmen are being asked to help with this fund drive. It was pointed out that due to pricing the tickets well within the reach of all individuals, Philharmonic cannot be self sustaining. Salaries of the conductor, orchestra members, as well as operating expenses of the office and renting the theatres, far out pace the income from the sale of tickets. This is not a unique situation as orchestras go. All orchestras depend on patrons of the arts to sustain them in bringing music to all people, it was stated.

Norman Rafalowsky, president of the Ulster County Council, presided. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barnett, Miss Margaret Beal, Mrs. Ned Bouymaster, Mrs. C. Lincoln Christensen, Mrs. Walter Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ickes, Mrs. Francis Mattison, Mrs. Amos Newcombe, Richard North, Mrs. Raymond Rignall, Miss Helen Sheldon, Charles B. Slutzky, Ray Steiner, Mrs. Stephen Waligursky, and Robert Winrow. Guests attending were: David Ocker and Allan Atherton.

The next meeting of the Ulster County Council is scheduled for November 17th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rafalowsky on Hillside Terrace in Kingston.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

All my furniture is blond with the exception of a dark TV cabinet which I wanted to turn into a small china closet for a few treasured things.

How to make it match my other pieces with the least trouble was my problem.

I first bought some light woodgrain adhesive-backed plastic. Since it's sometimes rather difficult to put on in large pieces because of air bubbles, I got the following idea . . .

As the paper has one-inch squares marked on the back, I cut it in four-inch blocks and stuck it on like tile — one piece lengthwise, the next the opposite way.

Just went on easy as butter with no bubbles and now this cabinet matches the rest of my furniture.

Mrs. L. Akie

Letter of Laughter

My grandmother, when first married, wanted to impress my grandfather with her cooking so she baked him a pie.

When asked how he liked it he replied, "It's nice dear, but it's the first time I've seen a pumpkin with a top crust!"

Mrs. Gary Kinsella

Dear Heloise:

I have found that a muffin pan can be used as a tray for cold drinks. You can carry six or more (or less) at a time.

Also, there is not the worry of the glasses sliding off as there would be on a regular tray.

Really does work great.

Mrs. Edward Kenne

Dear Heloise:

I want to pass on a helpful hint for removing excess paint that always manages to get on your hands:

Any kind of oily furniture polish — even cooking oil — rubbed on the spots that you wish to remove, will leave your hands spotless in seconds.

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

I found the greatest holder of my pens and pencils.

It's a glass flower-holder (sometimes called a frog) with holes in it just the size of my pens and pencils.

These frogs work perfectly because they are very sturdy, and my pens stay put on top of my desk. No more looking all over the house for one.

Gifts Not Obligatory for Second Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: When one wedding invitation is sent to an entire office it is necessary to send a gift when it is the second marriage for the girl. She was divorced from her first husband. She has already received a shower gift from each girl in the office.

—Marie

Dear Marie: There is no obligation for people to send gifts to a girl being married for the second time. Her closest friends may wish to do so, and they certainly may, but the shower gifts are all that should be expected of co-workers in her office.

On Eating Baked Potatoes
Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally, I notice a diner who, when eating a baked potato, uses his left hand in manipulating the potato to better extract the content. Is this excusable? Personally, I manage to eat the baked potato with left hand kept under the table.—Paul.

Dear Paul: It is possible to get the insides out of a baked potato without using your left hand to hold it, but it certainly is not easy or graceful. Frankly, I think you can do a neater job by using your hand — provided you wish to remove all the "meat" rather than eating the inside and the skin together. In the later case, you would cut the whole thing with a knife and fork, one bite at a time.

Report Brain Damage to Mouse From Monosodium Glutamate

NEW YORK (UPI)—Move widely used to enhance natural food flavor and impart meaty taste to foods.

Just five days after the sugar substitute cyclamate was ordered off shelves by Jan. 1 by the federal government, Dr. John Olney of St. Louis reported the same dosage of MSG used in baby food produced brain damage in a test mouse.

Sometimes called Sodium glutamate, MSG is a white, or nearly white powder which is very soluble in water and possesses a meatlike taste. It is his findings on NBC's Huntley-Brinkley report.

Dr. Olney said baby food companies would be using "bad judgment" if they continued putting MSG in their products without further research.

"I've treated a number of species of experimental animals in the period of infancy and I've found that every species I have studied is susceptible to brain damage for monosodium glutamate," Olney said.

In Washington Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., has said MSG should be taken off the market until more is known about it, including the "Chinese syndrome."

According to Washington studies people who eat too much Chinese style food where MSG is used liberally as an additive, have been known to develop a sense of pressure in the head, warmth and possible chest pain, and a headache.

24th Anniversary For United Nations

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United Nations turned 24 today with a somber observance born of the realization it faces a relentless series of crises headed by its most onerous problem—the Middle East.

"In all good conscience, I cannot say that this 24th anniversary is entirely a happy one," said U.N. Secretary General Thant.

Nevertheless, cities throughout the world observed the day as U.N. Day. In the blue-and-gold General Assembly hall beside New York's East River, the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra of London was summoned to serenade the occasion.

The U.N. Charter took effect Oct. 24, 1945, when ratification signatures of the big five powers—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Nationalist China—and 51 other nations were delivered to Washington.

As the U.N. membership grew, so did its problems. There are now 126 members. Besides the Middle East, the U.N. has acted in such crises as the Cyprus strife between Turks and Greeks, the India-Pakistan crisis over the Kashmir, the Communist guerrilla threat to Greece, the Indonesia-Malaysia confrontation, the Korean War and the chaos in the Congo which cost the life of former U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The 1948 Israel-Arab war resulted in the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden, the U.N. mediator. Dr. Ralph J. Bunche succeeded Bernadotte and within a few weeks completed the job the Swedish diplomat began, negotiating an end to the fighting, temporarily at least.

All the U.N. has ever been able to do in the Middle East is maintain a shaky truce. Sporadic warfare now erupts almost daily there and the Middle East has become a monumental financial burden to the United Nations.

"It must be said that we have not done nearly enough to reach the goals solemnly proclaimed 24 years ago: Universal peace, prosperity, social justice—a life worth living for every human being," Thant said.

Angie Brooks of Liberia, president of the General Assembly, concurred: "It is surely a more somber mood now that it was 24 years ago when the world must have seen the new organization as the realization of all its hopes."

Explosions Rip Compound, 2 Injured, Many Evacuated

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (UPI)—Two explosions, occurring within minutes of each other, ripped through a chemical compound of the Union Carbide plant

Thursday night injuring two persons and sending up balls of fire seen 20 miles away.

Hundreds of families were evacuated from the area while firemen fought the blaze bringing it under control about an hour after the first explosion was reported.

Texas City was the site of a series of explosions on April 16 and 17, 1947, which destroyed much of the town and killed 560 persons. In that disaster a cargo of nitrate aboard the French freighter SS Grandcamp exploded in the nearby Houston ship channel.

In Thursday's explosion only minor damage was caused to homes surrounding the Union Carbide plant, most of it by flying debris.

A piece of sheetmetal ripped through the home of Nick Narvaez, who lives 300 yards from the compound and an eight-foot length of pipe fell into the backyard of Mrs. H.D. Bryant two houses away.

R. L. Childs, 51, of Alta Loma, Tex., was hospitalized with a broken leg and Gilbert Theut, 24, of Texas City was treated for lacerations at a hospital and released.

The flames, which shot several hundred feet into the air, could be seen in Alta Loma, 20 miles from the compound.

Strike Against GE Slated

Midnight Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI)—A union leader says a nationwide strike against the General Electric Co. at midnight Sunday appears inevitable.

Paul Jennings, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union (IUE), said Thursday the strike is a "virtual certainty." More than 110,000 workers are involved.

And AFL-CIO President George Meany pledged "the GE strikers will have every bit of support they need from the entire AFL-CIO until the hour of victory."

No progress was reported in talks over GE's proposed three-year contract which would guarantee immediate pay increases of 20 to 45 cents an hour with a "re-opener clause" to negotiate further increases in the second and third years of the contract. The president contract expires at midnight Sunday.

The IUE and the United Electrical Workers Union (UE), representing a coalition of nine unions, rejected the company offer. They have asked for a 30-month contract, higher wages increases and a guaranteed cost of living increase, in addition to pension increases.

Town Recreation Report Given

In a statement this week Town Councilman Bernard M. Rinaldi defended his area of responsibility as commissioner of recreation with a full report of activities.

"There seems to be a credibility gap in the statements made by the present supervisor (A. Michael Schovel) in reference to many areas of responsibility as commissioner of recreation in the Town of Saugerties," Rinaldi declared. "It is true that the supervisor applied for state aid to run the youth program. However, that is so because such forms are sent to him as supervisor. The funded program turned over to me was the $1,600 in state aid, but in the next breath he informed the board that he had engaged the services of two people for $800 more than that received from the state. The supervisor did this without first consulting the Town Board.

"During the summer of 1968 the two coaches handled the program with little help from the supervisor or myself. I think it should be pointed out also that the recreation budget for 1968 which was not prepared by the present board was also responsible for paying the police chief.

"During the summer of 1968 I appointed a Recreation Committee, with the approval of the board, to help me. This they have done and done well. "The first order of business was to put the police chief to work as a full time policeman. We prepared a budget which was submitted to the Town Board and approved.

"Early in the spring, we launched our recreation pro-

Home Makers Of Centerville List Activities

SAUGERTIES Quite a large group attended the meeting of the Centerville Home Makers Club, this week, in the Saugerties Savings Bank Building. There were many displays of completed projects. Margaret McCall mad Christmas bells; Anna Kalinchak and Joan Whitaker, beaded candy jars; Jane Simon, tooth brush rugs; Henrietta Abbot, dainty tissue holder.

A barter sale was held after the meeting and merchandise of all descriptions was displayed.

May Donlon, Lillian Compitello and Ann Kalinchak, donated prizes to the club.

A Christmas party is being planned for Monday, Dec. 15 at 12:30 p.m. Charlotte Sperl and Louise Morse are on the committee, to check for reservations. Gifts will be exchanged. The next Refreshment Committee will be May Donlon, Frances Jackson and Lorraine Jorgensen.

Dance to Benefit Loyalty Day

SAUGERTIES are available at Bosco's barber shop, Main Street, or at the expenses for the annual VFW door. The proceeds will be Loyalty Day event in 1970.

There will be special awards for costumes in various categories for the Halloween masquerade dance of Saugerties Memorial Post, VFW to be held Saturday 9 p.m. at the VFW Hall.

Music will be by the Country Three and a buffet supper with liquid refreshments will be served.

The public is invited. Tickets

Rebekahs Plan Christmas Party At Lodge Home

SAUGERTIES Arrangements for the Christmas party to be conducted at the Grand Lodge Home were discussed at the recent meeting of Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge No. 34 held in Odd Fellows Temple.

The charter was very solemnly draped in memory of a member, Carrie Junker who died on Oct. 20, 1969. Noble Grand Alice Legg is conducting a benefit for the Christmas party at the Grand Lodge Home at which Ulster County is the host and she is asking the members to cooperate. The members are also reminded to bring gifts for the residents for the party such as note paper, ballpoint pens, powder, soap, wash cloths, towels, tissues, homemade cookies and candy. These are to be in not later than Nov. 18. The members are also reminded of the school of instruction to be held at Highland on Saturday, Nov. 8, at 2 p.m. with State Instructor Marjorie Saunders presiding. The Noble Grand appointed the following committees: Visiting, Jane Bridgeman, Clara Dawson; Refreshments, Blanche Dunn and Hannah Lewis.

"As I said in the beginning, the Supervisor is correct, he did apply for state aid, but the work was left to us.

"For the 1970 youth program, I am relieving the supervisor of the 'heavy burden' of making an application to the youth commission and will take that 'awesome' chore upon myself.

"During the past year, it was my responsibility to run the State Beautification program. We had seven boys working for a seven weeks period and the state paid for it. Besides laying out the work program for the boys, I had several meetings with State Youth Commission officials. On two different occasions a complete tour of the work area was conducted by me with a Youth Commission official," Rinaldi concluded.

Have Clothing At Neighborhood Service Center

SAUGERTIES Clothing for the needy is available to those who qualify at Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center, 124 Partition Street, it was announced this week.

The clothing has been donated by many concerned citizens and organizations. The Rev. John Needham and several women from Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion and Blue Mountain Community Club have delivered a quantity recently.

The Service Center also announced there are many requests for transportation to clinics, doctors and hospitals and volunteers are needed to fulfill this service. Most of the requests are from senior citizens.

Those wishing to volunteer may call the service center between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Says The Green Thumb

Bring Your Geraniums in From the Cold

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Many home gardeners brought their geraniums in from outdoors and want to keep them over winter. There are several ways to do this. Try making new plants by taking cuttings.

These simply are tip or end pieces of stem three to five inches long, cut squarely across with a sharp knife. Remove the bottom leaves and insert the cuttings in coarse sand, perlite or vermiculite, or plain tap water. Keep them well watered and protect them from drying out. A plastic bag over the cuttings will serve as a miniature greenhouse, but leave a few holes in for ventilation. A good temperature for rooting is anywhere from 55 to 65 degrees.

When the cuttings are rooted well, pot them in a soil mixture of one third sand, peat and loam. Incidentally, we've had excellent luck rooting geranium cuttings in the Jiffy-7 pellets.

These are highly compressed pellets about one quarter inch thick, but when you soak them in water they swell in minutes into a cylinder 1 1/4 inches in diameter and about 2 1/2 inches high. You simply insert the cutting into the center of the pellet and rooting takes place in two or three weeks.

Another way to keep geraniums over the winter is to pack them close together in a tub of soil in the cellar. Keep the soil slightly dampened and by the time springs rolls around, these can be cut back, potted up and grown into husky plants. Some folks put the geranium plants in a plastic bag (clear and slightly perforated). A small piece of cotton or rag is inserted to keep the plants from dying. It only takes a little moisture to keep them alive. Then in spring the plants are cutback and potted up. You'll be surprised to see how quickly those dead-looking stalks will come back to life.

Yellowing of Palm Leaves: Overwatering will cause leaves to turn yellow. This could also be due to poor drainage, or poor soil mixture. Also excessive dryness of the atmosphere is a reason for yellowing of foliage. Try covering the plant with a plastic bag to maintain a more humid atmosphere. Syringing the foliage is helpful, once or twice daily.

Green Thumb Clinic: A reader writes: "Is it true that a compost pile attracts flies and rats? We want to start one, but heard they attract pests." Answer: I don't believe they attract rats or flies. Put a plastic sheet over the pile and it will hasten decaying or ripening.

Fireplaces are sources of drafts

Eliminate the Draft; It'll Save You Money

A draft is a pain in the neck, literally. Enough drafts around the home this winter and no matter how you manipulate the thermostat, you are going to be cold. And you will be wasting fuel as well.

Checking the house for sources of cold air ought to be part of your prewinter maintenance work. What we are talking about now are sudden currents of chilly air. If your home is warm at the level of your head and cold around your feet, check your furnace and registers. They may need cleaning and your furnace may need regulating since this is generally evidence of poor heat circulation.

The obvious remedies are insulation and weatherstripping. Floors over porches and unheated garages, ceilings beneath unheated attics, all outside walls should be insulated. Most of this must be done when a house is built. Weatherstripping should form a seal around all doors and windows.

Let's assume that all this is done. These are obvious matters. It's the less obvious drafts that are the ones that will continue to chill you winter after winter because once the house is insulated and the doors and windows sealed, you may feel that you have done all you can. There are many random sources of drafts, however, which will exist in spite of conventional insulating. Just hold your hand up and you can detect the air currents that need stopping.

Check windows carefully. As your house ages and settles the molding and sill may separate slightly. Look for cracks. If any are found, the molding beneath the sill should be repositioned and nailed down.

How about the putty around the glass in the window? If it is cracked or crumbling, remove it and apply fresh putty. Do your double-hung windows close tightly? Locking the latch between them may not be enough; they may still remain loose. If the two parts of the latch do not meet tightly, shim up the movable part with washers where it is screwed to the frame. Check the molding between wall and floor. This may separate from the baseboard in time. Carefully remove it, reposition it and re nail.

Thresholds under outside doors may also need repositioning.

If you have a window or wall-mounted air conditioner, check the seal around it. Calk around it on the outside. The unit should be provided with a cover. Make certain the exhaust and intake ducts are closed.

Buy a Heating Unit That Can Switch Fuel

Before you buy a new home, make sure that the fuel for your heating system can be replaced another fuel or buy a new one if the price gets too high or which uses a fuel more to his service falls off. Otherwise, the changeover can be high charge may shock you! Most people are unaware that their home is heated by a system, either hydronic (mod- ern hot water) heating, forced warm air, or resistance systems. Instead, they say they have gas, oil or electric heat. Not so, says the National Better Heating Cooling Council, for these are fuels which supply energy to heating systems (like gasoline for the family car) while heating systems the Council cautions prospective buyers to investigate the In the case of hydronics and heating system which offers forced warm air, notes the most comfort, and then select the fuel which has the best price and service.

Since all fuels are available in most parts of the country, the Council cautions prospective buyers to investigate the price and service.

PROUD OF YOUR HOME!

Did O'Donnell Doom The Knicks?

By United Press International
To the San Francisco Warriors, Nate Thurmond is a sweet fellow, but referee Jake O'Donnell would rather take his chances with cyclamate.

"Nate's not the kind of guy who gets bounced out of a lot of games," teammate Al Attles said after O'Donnell bounced Thurmond out of Thursday night's 112-109 Warriors win over New York.

"The guys were mad," coach George Lee said of his club's reactions to Thurmond's ejection. "It's like your brother getting left out at the dinner table. They were thinking 'win' after Nate got bounced and that's 75 per cent of the battle."

Thurmond, leading the Warriors in rebounds and assists, this season, was pacing all scorers with 13 points and 11 rebounds when O'Donnell ordered him to the dressing room for arguing a personal foul call with 5:04 left in the second period.

The wounded Warriors reacted viciously with the outside shooting of Jeff Mullins (27 points) and Joe Ellis (18 points) and by outrebounding the Knicks 68-42.

New York, which didn't lead after the first period, rallied to close the gap to one point at 108-107 with 1:27 remaining, but four clutch free throws by Ellis thwarted the Knicks' attempt to remain unbeaten after five straight victories.

Lee, forced to depend heavily upon Thurmond for board strength because of Rudy LaRusso's retirement, said he received no explanation for Thurmond's dismissal but was pleased with his team's reaction. "Everybody played hard after Nate got bounced," Lee said. "People say we have no forwards since Rudy quit, but look at the jobs those guys (Bill Turner, Clyde Lee and Dale Schleuter) did. We're going to give a lot of people trouble."

Especially if Thurmond stay in the lineup, as Thurmond felt he should have done Thursday.

"He (O'Donnell) wouldn't have thrown out Baylor, Russell, Chamberlain or Robertson that fast," Thurmond insisted.

"I thought I was getting hit on the rebounds and I told him about it. I shouldn't get kicked out on one call like that and I don't think the language I used was so excessive as to get me kicked out of the game."

Thurmond said O'Donnell did not give him a warning and O'Donnell said he did. Regardless, the Warriors won without their star, and Lee sees nothing wrong with that.

Despite the absence of Rick Barry, the Washington Caps whipped the Miami Floridians, 108-92, in the ABA's only game Thursday night.

Barry, the 6-foot-7½, 217-pounder who refused to switch from Oakland to Washington, was scheduled to undergo surgery Friday for the removal of a cartilage in his left knee, the second such operation he's had this year.

Word Is Oakland Over San Diego

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — I thought it'd never get here.

What I'm talking about is the word, without which I wouldn't feel right about offering my weekly football choices.

Each week I wait patiently for the word and generally it arrives in good time but this week it was a little late. I was beginning to think it wouldn't come but it finally did and now I can pass it on to you.

Oakland over San Diego.

That's the word. What's that? You say you know that by yourself and you didn't need the word after seeing how the Raiders ran over the Buffalo Bills, 50-21, last week but what you may or may not know is that the Bills played more like that new rock group, the Abominations, in that game with the Raiders and offered no line whatsoever on whether Oakland is "all the way back" and a good bet to beat the Chargers this Sunday in San Diego.

Gus Otto, the Raiders' veteran line backer, does though.

"There was a lack of continuity before the Buffalo game that isn't a problem with us anymore," he says. "Daryle (Lamonica) sometimes was throwing the ball well and a lotta times the guys were dropping 'em. (Not against Buffalo, though. Lamonica flipped six TD passes in the first half). As for our defense, it'll give up yards more so than Kansas City or Houston, but it's the type which will come up with the big play more so than the other teams."

There you have it. The word. Oakland over San Diego.

Along with: New York over Boston—If Houston's defense didn't stop the Jets, does Boston's figure to?

Houston over Denver—Oilers are listed 10-point choices over the Broncos and that's about right.

Miami over Buffalo—This is the perfect spot for the Dolphins to break into the win column.

Kansas City over Cincinnati—I liked the Bengals in their first meeting but the Chiefs in this one.

NFL Minnesota over Detroit—Without Bill Munson and Mel Farr, the Lions are hurting.

Cleveland over St. Louis—Leroy Kelly says he's feeling better all the time.

Los Angeles over Chicago—Much closer than the 12 points the bookies are quoting.

New Orleans over Philadelphia—Saints are about ready to bust loose.

Atlanta over Green Bay—The Falcons are beginning to believe and that's when a ball club becomes dangerous.

Hawks Tie Adelphi In Soccer Duel, 1-1

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz State and Adelphi College of New York battled to a 1-1 soccer tie on a windswept field. Both teams scored in the second period and neither could score in the double overtime periods.

The Hawks tallied first, with Abdi Yunis slamming home a goal, with an assist from Bob Hippy, with 17:20 left in the period.

Adelphi gained the equalizer when Bernie Hintz surprised the Hawks with a kick from the corner with 10:20 left.

"It really surprised us," said Coach Bob Durkin of State.

Durkin had high praise for Goalie Sanborn of the Hawks who, he said, "played a real fine game for us."

Both teams.

He commented, "played as well as they can. We scored with the wind and they countered against the wind." Adelphi missed a penalty kick in the third period.

Adelphi now has a 6-1-1 record and New Paltz is 2-5-1. The locals play at once-beaten Plattsburgh Saturday.

TONGUE NOT IN CHEEK — Knicks' Willis Reed, surrounded (L-R) by Al Attles, Joe Ellis and an unidentified Warrior, bites his tongue as he goes up for a basket during their game at Madison Square Garden Thursday night. The Warriors forced to play without their leading rebounder when Nate Thurmond was ejected midway through second period, relied on clutch free-throwing of Joe Ellis to stop previously unbeaten Knicks, 112-109. Weekend Races At Monticello MONTICELLO son trotting sensation Pure Demon.

The newly enclosed and heated grandstand at Monticello Raceway will get its first and most important test of the season when the pacers and trotters make their return to the first of four post season programs Friday night.

Despite chilly, winter-like temperatures, the forecast at the Mighty M is for warm and comfortable weather in the glass enclosed and heated grandstand. The weather man is also doing his best to assure a successful weekend having called for sunny temperatures.

Heading the action on the racetrack is a $2500 trot, the fourth on the expanded eleven race card.

The favorite is the late sea-fresh.

KINGSTON

High's powerful soccer squad meets Monticello High next Tuesday in a DUSO League "must" game buoyed by an impressive 5-1 "comeback" victory over Fallsburg Central Comets Thursday.

"We have to win this one to stay in contention," said Coach John Hunter, after Brian Williams had sparked the Maroons with a pair of goals and three assists against the Comets.

"I was pleased with the way the boys bounced back from the Poughkeepsie setback," said Hunter, one of the most knowledgeable soccer coaches in the area. "It was a real team in every aspect."

The Monties zipped Newburgh Academy 2-0 in another DUSO encounter at Monticello. Kingston and Middletown are tied for the lead with 5-1 records.

Kingston broke the game wide open with four goals in the third period. Back-to-back goals by Williams (assist Harry Wynkoop) on identical play patterns within 30 seconds of each other was the turning point.

The fine teamwork of the Maroons also was reflected in the fact that all five goals were scored from assists, a rare feat in soccer.

Tom Barton put Kingston ahead in the first two minutes of the game with the help of Williams' first assist.

Leading 1-0, Kingston made its move when Williams scored his first goal with 1:23 gone in the third period on a pass from Wynkoop. Thirty seconds later the play was repeated.

Pat Nugent made it 4-0, taking a pass from Williams at 7:30 and Wynkoop closed Kingston's scoring, converting another assist from Williams.

Haddon Pantel broke goalie Jim Corsones' shutout at 13:10 with a penalty kick for the Comets.

Kingston took 26 shots on goal, while Fallsburg had 19. Corsones had four saves, while Charles Carter stopped five for Fallsburg.

The rest of the scoring came on power plays. Detroit's Nick Libett got the Red Wings in front with a first period goal. The Flyers' scores came in the second period on shots by Bill Sutherland and Andre Lacroix.

The Detroit Red Wings had to come from behind Thursday to finish in a 2-2 tie with the Philadelphia Flyers. And the tying score came on a disputed goal at 15:05 of the second period.

Center Gary Unger was credited with the goal when referee Art Skov ruled that Flyers goalie Bernie Parent had pushed the puck across the goal line.

"It was a loose puck, no question about it," said Flyers' captain Ed Van Impe, who was on top of the play. "It was lying right on the goal line and I was afraid it would go over, so I shoved it into Bernie's pads. I swear it never crossed the line."

Skov said the puck crossed

Key Injuries Take Heavy Toll of Kingston Team

YA MISSED ME — Warren McVea has added a new dimension to the Kansas City Chiefs' offense. McVea is fast. He has run 40 yards in 4.2 seconds and 100 yards in 9.4 seconds. McVea zips through a hole before a defender has time to think about blocking his path. as in the Miami game, McVea (6) gains enough yardage for a 1st down. McVea will get a crack at former teammates when Cincinnati plays the Chiefs Sunday. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
Kingston High School's football fortunes, at the beginning of the year, were based on whether or not Coach Frank Modica and his staff could rebuild a team that was hurt rather badly by graduation. Now, with the season half over, Modica and his assistant coaches find that they must again rebuild. There is one difference this time. The rebuilding is caused by injuries, not graduation.

The Maroons post a 1-3 record, having defeated Linton High for their only win thus far, having lost to Johnstown, Poughkeepsie and Port Jervis.

In each of these three tilts, the locals have lost more than just the game, they have lost key personnel.

There is an old saying in football circles that goes something like: "You must stay healthy to win." It would seem that the converse is also true: "If you win, you stay healthy."

Look at the Record
A look at the record for Kingston will bear these statements out.

In the first game, Kingston was beaten by Johnstown. They lost their great halfback, Marshall Byrd, for the season in the second quarter. They also lost the services of Vin Guido for about two weeks.

In the second game, with Linton, Kingston won and nobody suffered any key injuries.

The third game took the Maroons to Port Jervis and the result was another loss and injury to key personnel. Dale Whitman, starting end and kicking specialist, was knocked out of action for an undetermined period of time. Earl Edmunds, another end, couldn't play and Bob Clausi, star line-backer, had to operate at half-strength because of numerous ailments suffered in this game and the first two.

Poughkeepsie took the toll of the locals in the fourth tilt, not only scorewise, but also in the physical department.

George Geanuleus, a fine half-back, both offensively and defensively, joined Byrd on the tire team, coaches, players and fans for not letting life's little misfortunes get them down. A great deal of credit must also go to the coaching staff that refuses to hide behind these ready-made excuses and continually fights to prepare the boys for each game.

"We are right down to the bare minimum as far as player-personnel goes," said Modica. "We now have to use inexperienced boys at many key positions. How well we do depends on how fast these new boys catch on and how many of the veterans recover from their injuries in time to help us. Nobody's giving up and morale, believe it or not, is good. We'll play each game as it comes and any one of our opponents who think we're going to roll over and play dead will be in for quite a shock," concluded the coach.

Tilt at Gloversville
Kingston travels to Gloversville this Saturday for a non-league encounter with Gloversville High. The home side is undefeated and untied in five games thus far. The Maroons had a tough game against them last year, winning 13-6, and this year's tilt appears to be no exception.

The Maroons played well against Poughkeepsie last week, despite the final score. They blew three or four chances to score on the Pioneers and played the DCSL leaders to a standstill statistically. If they can keep a sustained drive alive and can get the fine effort this Saturday that they have been getting from players like John Tiano, Bill Brady and Tony Cicoria, things could be a lot brighter on the bus ride back to Kingston this week than it has been for the past two weeks.

HOOPLE MANOR
Egad! Oh my, oh my! Here I sit, still delirious about my near perfect, eight-for-nine slate of predictions for area high schools last week, thinking about how blind I was not to have realized that Pine Bush was superior to the Rondout Ganders.

Of course, dear readers, you must realize that I was helped, er, hindered, by a fellow who has no knowledge of anything, let alone football, in making that selection. It had to be one of my weakest moments. It will not happen again. I can only say that I am quite sure that my predictions will be 100 per cent correct this time around. Ha-Kaff!

I was quite ready to go back to Clan MacGregor Castle, the scene of last week's triumph, but my rather shrewish wife, Martha, insisted that I had consumed enough "scotch mist" to last me for the rest of the season. Actually, she is the perfect mate for me as she sleeps rather soundly, most of the time. Ha-ur-ur-ur!

I hate to keep boring my public with statistics, but I'm now batting 33 for 45 with a percentage of .711. Not bad for an oldster, is it? Kaff, kaff.

Now, for this week's picks and let the chips fall where they may.

Gloversville 16, Kingston 8
The Maroons have been working hard for each game and playing hard in each game, but to no avail. This one will be close and could go the other way if Kingston's injured legions can recover.

Highland 30, New Paltz 8
The Highlanders will be going all out, trying to keep pace with UCAL leaders, Pine Bush, in case they should falter. New Paltz has not had much success thus far, offensively, although the defense has starred on occasion. Highland would probably give anything in the world for a replay of that first game with the Bushmen.

Liberty 22, Rondout 14
The Redskins have been scalping everybody in sight since those first two losses and will be out to add the Ganders' beak to the totem pole. The defending champs have had trouble, putting together a sustained at-

Saugerties 15, Cardinal Farley 6
The Sawyers have been experiencing life's little ups and downs throughout the season and have not been 100 per cent healthy for any game nor have they been able to have the complement needed between the offense and defense, to produce a single win. It will all come together Saturday. Not much has been heard from the Cadets since Joe Ingarrta left the head coaching spot. Ha-ur-ur-ur!

Other Scores
Port Jervis 28, Roosevelt 6; Newburgh 28, Beacon 6; Pawling 21, Haldane 0; Millbrook 22, Red Hook 0. Kaff, kaff.

Now for a look at the national scene:

Last week, nationally, I hit 34 of 47 with one tie for a winning percentage of 723. To date, your peerless prognosticator has pegged 170 right and 79 wrong, with three ties for a .683 mark.

The Hoople crystal ball sees two undefeated powers, LSU and UCLA, falling by the wayside as Auburn dumps the Fighting Tigers, 34-27 and Stanford puts it all together against UCAL, 24-20. Ha-ur-ur-ur!

Pioneers Victorious In Kingston Match

POUGHKEEPSIE
Kingston High School's soccer team lost its second game in a row and of the season by a 4-3 score to Poughkeepsie here on a cold and windy day.

Pad Nugent slammed in the first goal of the contest at the 4:20 mark of the first period giving the Maroons a 1-0 lead. The goal was set up on passes from Brian Williams and Larry Feeney.

Traver James of the Pioneers tied the score on a break away at 12:27 of the first period. Kingston took advantage on a goal by Larry Feeney that evaded the hands of goalie Bob Dorris, at the 7:56 mark of the second period. Five minutes later Vic Naklicki booted in the third Maroon goal on a mix up in front of the goal.

With a 3-1 lead at half time the Maroons fell asleep in the second half as the Pioneers scored twice in the third period and once in the fourth to steal the victory away by a 4-3 score.

Travis James scored at 12:03 of the third period on a break-away. With only a little better than one minute later Art Cohen tied the score at 3-3 on a mix up in front of the goal. The winning goal came in the fourth period when Milt Lewis headed one in midway through the period.

"We went completely flat and Poughkeepsie's Travis James played a fantastic game," said Coach John Hunter of the Maroons. "Rick Salzman was our only bright spot of the second half as he played exceptionally well," added Hunter.

Sidebars: Kingston has a 4-1 record in the DUSO League and can tie with Middletown if they win their remaining three DUSO encounters. A loss is never supposed to be good for a team but, the Maroons may wake up to force a play-off with Middletown for the championship. The Maroons have the nucleus of the finest team in the DUSO.

AHS Wins Over Coleman

KINGSTON
John A. Coleman High School's soccer team dropped a 3-2 decision to Arlington High here on a cold and windy day.

Arlington took an early lead as Bob Zirniss scored on a break away 4:31 into the first period. Tom Courtous scored the second goal at 8:45 of the second period. Less than four minutes later the final Arlington goal was booted in by Jim Fisher on an assist from Tom Teasdale.

Coleman Charges
Down by a 3-0 score the Statesmen came to life in the fourth period when Mark Weber received an assist from Don Hastings to score the first Coleman goal. Tom Sullivan scored the second and final goal for Coleman on a penalty kick with only 15 seconds remaining in the contest making the score 3-2 in favor of the Admirals.

Coleman travels to Storm King next Wednesday for its final encounter of the season.

Used Cars for Sale

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee . . .
It Doesn't Come With Every Car
It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we pay half you pay half deals."
And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.
This is how it works. When we get a car as a trade in, we give it the inspection. Check it out completely. If it passes, we tune up, tighten, repair or replace everything that needs tuning up, tightening, repairing or replacing.
Then we guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.
What kind of cars get our guarantees? All kinds. Chevs., Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens).
So. The next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.
No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used car can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee . . .
It Doesn't Come With Every Car
It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we pay half you pay half deals."
And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.
This is how it works. When we get a car as a trade in, we give it the inspection. Check it out completely. If it passes, we tune up, tighten, repair or replace everything that needs tuning up, tightening, repairing or replacing.
Then we guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.
What kind of cars get our guarantees? All kinds. Chevs., Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens).
So. The next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.
No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used car can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

It's Easy to Write a Good WANT AD!

Lots of people get confused when it comes to writing a Want Ad. Do you? If so, here are a few simple rules to make ad writing easy. A good ad is just conversation in print. So when you're preparing to place an ad, just write in the way you'd tell your neighbor about it.

Why Leave Them Guessing?

What do you want to sell or buy? If it's an appliance, what's the brand? What's the size or capacity? Model? Year? Any accessories included? Does it need repair, or is it ready to use? Now put yourself in the buyer's position. If you were reading this ad, what would you like to know? Price? By all means, put that in. In nearly every ad, price is the most important information. Anything else missing? If so, fill in those blanks, too. All clear now, OK, just a few more little points.

Don't Cut Off Your Own Nose

Once the ad has been completed, read it over. It's fine to eliminate a word here and there, but don't "edit" it to the point where the reader may have to guess at the meaning. You might save a few pennies and lose dollars in results.

The Heck With It

If any of this seems complicated, don't lose your grip. You can still place your ad. Just pick up your telephone and dial 338-0606. We have experienced ad writers waiting to help you.

Ordering Is Easy

Just use the handy order form, or come in and see us at 3 Broadway, or at our Branch Office, 239 Fair St.

Dear Abby

It's Your Decision

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My daughter (I'll call her "Sue") chose to marry a man for whom nobody in our family has any use. He was in the service, went AWOL, and finally got a DISHONORABLE DISCHARGE.

This didn't set very well with my family because our oldest daughter's husband was killed in Korea. We have a 20-year-old son who is now in Vietnam, and a 27-year-old who is home after serving two years in Vietnam where the lost a leg.

Sue made it plain that she would never set foot in our home again unless her husband is made welcome. Too. Well, since we love our daughter more than we hate her husband, we agreed to accept him.

Our oldest daughter says if this terrible son-in-law walks in white SHE is there, she will walk out. I know there is no easy solution, Abby, but what should we do to hurt the least number of people?

UP A CREEK
DEAR UP: No one (not even

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SEX: (Comment) I live in a small, average town, and go to a small school. I can name six couples and 10 individuals who have had sexual relations—what kids call "going all the way."

These aren't had teen-agers. Some are A students. Several are cheerleaders, some are football letterman, some Christians. All are popular. Some are as young as 15. None of them believes that what they are doing is wrong.

My boy friend and I have been intimate. I don't feel the least bit guilty. I love him.—One who Knows in Kansas.

(A.) For one letter like yours, I get 100 like the following one.

SORRY: (Q.) Please print this. It may help other girls. I am 14. I am pregnant. No one knows. My boy friend and I just got carried away. I am afraid to tell him. My parents, too. They will be horrified.

I guess I did it because they were too strict. I got my kicks all at once. I can't think who to turn to except you. What about my baby? Please help me. Please.—No Name, No address.

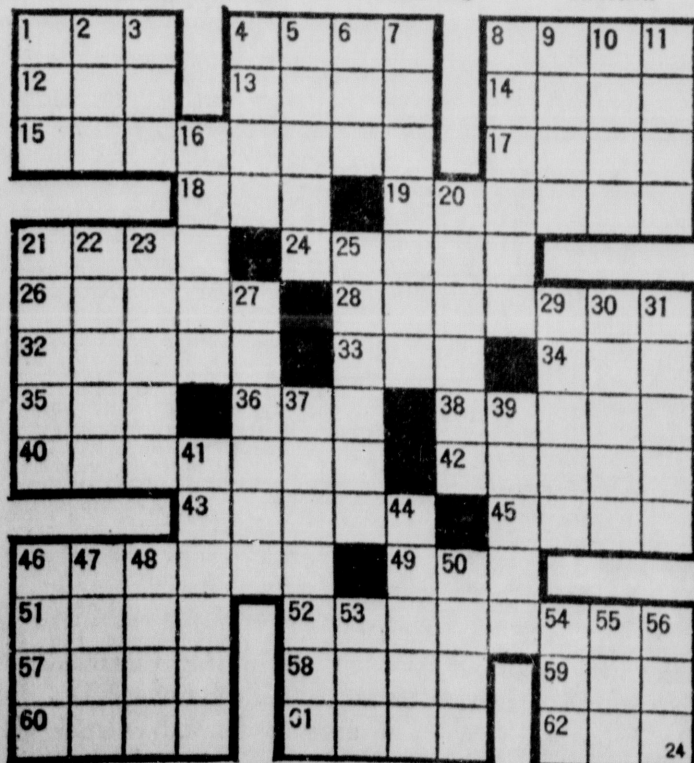

(A.) This girl was so upset she forgot to send her address so I could write her.

My advice to 14-year-old girls like her (and there are many) is: Tell your parents, tell your boy friend, put the baby up for adoption, and start over again, the less-exciting but better way.

NO LONGER CONCERNED
IN L. A.

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading the letters in your column pro and con about sex education in the public schools, and I think you have given the best advice to concerned parents so far: "GO TO SCHOOL AND ASK TO SEE THE COURSES GIVEN." Too many people are willing to believe everything they hear and read.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 49700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Horoscope

By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY OCTOBER 25, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Settle financial affairs. Be practical. Those who encourage get-rich-quick schemes don't have facts. Consider valid suggestions. Let others take a flyer. Start savings account.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Accept responsibility. If you try to duck issues, price is paid. Be solicitous to women around you. Cycle is such that you must express yourself. Others cannot read your mind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You are made aware of plans which could affect your future. Realize you cannot hand on to past. Look to future — with optimism. Be sympathetic to one who seeks aid.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some friends may appear morose. Key is to act on beliefs. Adhere to principles. You cannot go wrong if you proceed in this manner. Accent on fulfillment of desires.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are tested. Some events may seem to be going against you. But today obstacles are valid challenges. You can earn respect of those in authority.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Complaints of younger persons should be taken seriously. Open communication lines — narrow gap. Many want to hear and see you. Telephone, write — show you are genuinely concerned.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Aboid playing games with serious matters. Money is involved. Key is to be thorough — and dedicated. Someone you respect may be dabbling in the occult. Withhold judgment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A LIBRA individual may need your advice, aid. Give it, but avoid appearing pompous. Give attention to public relations, legal affairs. If married, mate needs cheering.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Full moon position, combined with Saturn accents awareness for you of health, work, basic chores. Stick to what you know. Avoid talking about what you think you know.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): don't create issue where none exists. You may not feel elated by events. But slowdown is temporary. Know this: respond accordingly. Not so good for speculating. Be conservative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Home, property, basic possessions require your personal attention. If possible, stick close to home base. Some remodeling would prove beneficial.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Obtain hint from AQUARIUS message. Avoid unnecessary journeys. Someone may need you at home. Message received require your attention. Follow through. Don't delay in responding.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural analyst. You are idealistic, but you should not brood when perfection is not attainable. Family affairs will be untangled. Cheer up.

Bad Breaks Make for Good Players

Reese and Dormer point out that, in rubber bridge, you should play for your contract. If it appears safe, then see what you can do about making the hand against bad breaks. On the other hand, if you need good breaks to make it, then place the adverse cards where you need them.

Playing at three no-trump, South is looking at eight topcard tricks. He can find a trick in either hearts or clubs but the logical place to go after it will be in diamonds. He probably will win the first spade because there is little reason to hold off. Then he will go after the diamond suit. A careless player will take his ace of diamonds and lead a diamond to dummy's king. East will show out and the careless player will find that his ninth trick is not going to come easily from the diamond suit.

If he puts in enough study, he may work out some method of throwing West in with a club and forcing a diamond lead but all that requires a lot of brain work and careless players aren't likely to find that sort of play.

A careful player will stop before playing from dummy to the second diamond trick. He will note that four diamond tricks are all he needs for three no-trump and he will see that the play of the 10 spot from dummy assures these four diamond tricks.

He may lose an unnecessary trick to an unguarded jack in the East hand but that trick will represent the difference between three and four no-trump, not between three no-trump and down one.

Odd, But a Tough Combo

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"The Odd Couple," Neil Simon's smash Broadway hit that also was made into a movie, will become a half-hour situation comedy series on ABC-TV next season.

The stars will be Tony Randall and Jack Klugman.

Randall will play the part of Felix Ungar, an overly neat and fussy television newsman recently divorced by his wife. The role was created by Art Carney on Broadway and then done by Jack Lemmon in the movie.

Klugman will portray Oscar Madison, a slovenly, divorced, sports-writer friend of Felix who runs a messy household which includes a very sloppy, weekly poker game. This part was played by Walter Matthau as Oscar on Broadway. He later continued in the role on the London stage.

Numerous actors and comedians have taken on the parts of Felix and Oscar in the many productions of "The Odd Couple." But the casting of Randall and Klugman seems a hard combination to beat.

Fine comedy teams are, curiously, all too rare on video. One thinks of the old Jim Arnnes-Dennis Weaver relationship on "Gunsmoke"—as Matt and Chester. Then there were Bill Cosby and Bob Culp on "I Spy," and John Astin and Marty Ingels in "I'm Dickens, He's Fenster." And of course there are Carney and Jackie Gleason on the Gleason series.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

Sour grapes are harvested in any season of the year.

The season is almost upon us when grown men spend hundreds of dollars for the chance to fall in a swamp and point mud-plugged shotguns at lunks long gone over the horizon.

Nothing else bleaches a family's black sheep so effectively as having him strike it rich.

Even nondrinkers get a lift from a "Pink Lady"—the hospital volunteer who does so much for morale of the patients.

An optimist is a fellow who can be cheered by a belated birthday card from his wife.

Another nice thing about your newspaper—you don't get citizen radios butting in while you're reading an interesting story.

A family with no skeletons in the closet might well tidy up the living room.

Our nonfavorite beanery has something new on the menu every day, and we wish it would supply some clean ones to read.

No frontiersman was ever as careful with his last bullet as is the lunk with the final shot in the bottle.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Not to be overlooked, however, are Bob Denver and Herb Edelman of CBS-TV's "The Good Guys," for their slapstick comedy pairing has increased greatly in skill in their relatively short time on the air.

The series, which did rather well in the ratings last season, is reported a bit iffy at the moment, but one hopes the network realizes this comedy team is worth more of a shot than many other performers with far less talent.

Another situation comedy that went through a headache is NBC's Debbie Reynolds show. The comedienne pulled a one-day walkout after a cigarette commercial was used on her debut, and the tobacco sponsor soon quit the show as a result. This meant subsequent advertisers sought for the series were in a buyers' market, and the price was naturally lower, affecting income all around.

Says the daily trade paper "Variety": "As a result of performer's blast against American Brands... there has been an agreement reached between Filmways TV (the comedienne's partner) and Miss Reynolds, whereby 'substantial' adjustments and mutual changes were made in her contract, incurred when the sponsor to give 'relief' to the network, pulled out of the show..."

Battle Rages in Rhinebeck Skies

In a scene that could have come straight out of World War I or Snoopy's dreams of glory, a Sopwith Pup, vintage 1917, zeroes in on the infamous Black Baron flying his 1917 model Fokker Triplane. The setting is not France but the skies over Rhinebeck Aerodrome and the year is 1969 not 1917. The aerial dogfight is part of the show staged by Cole Palen with his huge private collection of vintage aircraft, said to be the largest in the world. Richard King is flying the Sopwith with Palen as the Black Baron in this encounter. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Saugerties Plans Gain For 'Seniors' Housing

SAUGERTIES Progress is accelerating on the proposed $1 million senior citizens apartment building in Saugerties Village to provide 60 to 80 low-rent units some time next year.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., early in September announced that $48,234 has been set aside by the Federal Housing Administration for the project and the actual grant will be released following the completion of a feasibility study and the filing of an application by the sponsors, a non-profit corporation to be established.

The announcement this week noted that the architects, Reisner and Coste of New Paltz, Newburgh and New York City are currently working on plans for the project.

Construction is expected to start in the spring of 1970 on properties under option at the corner of Main Street and Washington Avenue. The properties include a vacant gas station, the Chevron station site occupied by Amos Post Inc., a self-service gas station and Saugerties Ambulance Service, and a four-apartment house on Washington Avenue.

A corporation is being established in the form of a Board of Managers which will include a committee of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches, original sponsors and interested citizens.

Members of the steering committee of the council include the Rev. Robert Hess, pastor of Flatbush Reformed Church, chairman; R. Earle Haley, lay minister of First Congregational Church, treasurer of the council; Mrs. Alvin F. Messersmith, a delegate from St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp and the council president, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine of Saugerties Reformed Church.

The number of units will depend on whether they will be mainly one-bedroom units, or larger and the size of the apartments will also establish the amount of the rent for the various units.

The project will be operated on a non-profit basis. Rents will be established to provide funds for maintenance, depreciation and other expenses.

The project will also include a lounge and recreational facilities.

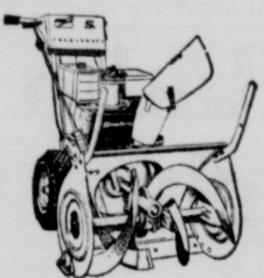

Albany Papers To Give Robb Scholarship

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of Albany's Capitol Newspapers have announced plans for a Gene Robb Journalism Scholarship in memory of the papers' late publisher.

Robb, who died Aug. 18, was publisher of The Times-Union and The Knickerbocker News in Albany and the Schenectady Union-Star. All three papers are owned by the Hearst Corporation.

John J. Leary, executive editor of The Times-Union said the scholarship will be awarded annually to a high school senior who seeks a career in journalism.

Red Hook Budget Talk Nov. 5

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK A public hearing for the Town of Red Hook's proposed 1970 budget will be held Nov. 5, the day after election day, at the Town Hall.

The budget jumps $19,000 from that of 1969, from $91,483 to $110,028. To be raised by taxes will be $85,119, a jump of $23,000 over last year's $62,711. While an accurate assessment per thousand figure has not been arrived at as yet, it can be expected that calling for nearly a 30 per cent increase in tax raised monies will produce a substantially increased tax rate.

A major cause of the increase lies with Highway Department spending. This portion of the budget will rise from $75,879 to $87,846, about $12,000.

An increase in debt service serial bonds from a $5,090 item to $13,871 is due to purchase of several expensive items of road machinery this past year to replace aging and out-of-date machinery.

The budget for special districts, including lighting of Forest Park, College Park, Willow Park, Linden Acres, and Holt District, as well as Red Hook and Tivoli Fire Com-ies, remains about the same, in the $18,000 bracket.

Two salary raises include that of highway superintendent from $7,500 to $8,500, and a justice of the peace, from $4,400 to $5,830. Other salaries remain the same.

The Dutchess Poor Listen

POUGHKEEPSIE "The basic theory behind the Food Stamp plan is to put more food in the homes of the poor," Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. told a group of welfare recipients recently at a meeting at the Union Street Center here.

"But if it isn't working out we'll have to do something about it," he added.

After a quick tour of the Dutchess County Committee for Economic Opportunity's Day Care Center Fish met with the poor to listen to their complaints about the Food Stamp plan. The voices were quiet though anguish was clearly shown. Fish listened with concern as Mrs. Joseph Schrotz, his district office manager, took notes.

"The flat grant is killing the poor people," "We're still going to have to buy soul food," "You wonder if the plan is helping the poor or the banks who get their cut and the retail stores who jack up their prices," "The Food Stamp Program ties our hands. I'm not going to spend $136 out of my welfare allotment for food if it means going without medicine, clothing and other necessities," one was quoted.

Martin Marcus, a lawyer for the group's Legal Service Bureau summed up the complaints. "At lot of people feel the Food Stamp Plan takes away from what they already had under welfare. Those who
